LABOR CONFEREES SOLVE PRELIMINARY PEACE ISSUES, PREPARE TO ATTACK VITAL PROBLEMS OF AFL AND CIO

Chinese Warplanes Take Offensive at Shanghai

INFANTRY HOLDS 160,000 JAPANESE ALONG CITY FRONT

Nipponese Army Spokesman Admits Fierce 10-Weeks' Drive 'Slowed Down,' But Contends Defenders Retreating.

EXPLOSIONS ROCK FOREIGN SECTIONS

British Protest Slaying of Subject, Declare Incident Is Too Big To Be 'Dealt With Locally.'

TOKYO (Tuesday), Oct. 26.—(UP)—The Domei (Japanese) News Agency said today in a dispatch from Shanghai that Japanese troops had captured strategic position of Miao-changchen on the Shanghai front this morning.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Chinese bombing planes carried the fight to Japanese positions on Shanghai's northern fringe early today while Chinese infantrymen held doggedly against the onslaughts of some 160,000 Japanese along the twisting front north of the city.

A Japanese army spokesman admitted the Japanese drive had "slowed down" after six days of the fiercest offensive operations of the 10-week-old battle for Shanghai. Foreign experts estimated some 300,000 Chinese troops were holding the line northwest from Shanghai to the Yangtze estuary.

Rock International Area. The city's international area rocked to the bomb explosions, while new heavy anti-aircraft guns recently installed in Hongkew by the Japanese searched the moonlit heavens for the raiders.

Fragments and shrapnel fell in the international districts and police reported three Chinese had been killed and 19 injured in those areas in the last 24 hours.

Five miles northwest of the city Chinese and Japanese were fighting hand-to-hand in the streets of Tazang, key to the back door of the Chinese positions at Kiangwan and Chapel, where the Chinese flank is protected by the neutrality of the International Settlement.

Claim Chinese Retreating.

The Japanese spokesman said the main body of the Chinese were retreating westward from Tazang, while the Japanese were pressing steadily against Chinese units left to fight the covering rear guard action. Japanese said they had occupied several small villages west of Tazang and were attempting an enveloping movement under cover of a smoke screen.

The Japanese said the Chinese were falling back on Nanziang and Chenju, main bases of their "winter line" about ten miles in rear of the first line of defense where the battle began six days ago.

Foreign military experts believe the Japanese will take a breaching spell to bring up their heavy artillery to blast out the barbed wire that has slowed their advance.

As the result of the Sunday morning plane attack in which a British soldier was killed, British army authorities issued orders to all their defense posts to fire without hesitation on any attacking planes.

20 KILLED IN COLLISION OF TROOP, CIVILIAN TRAINS

PEIPING, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Twenty persons, including several Japanese soldiers, were killed today when a troop train just outside Peiping on the Peiping-Suiyuan railway.

Hospital trains continued to rumble out of the city bearing wounded Japanese from the fighting areas to medical bases in Manchoukuo, Korea and Japan.

Others Die, She Finds Elixir Harmless

Miss Evelyn Sharbough, assistant to Dr. A. S. Calhoun, of Mt. Olive, Miss., said she took several doses of the new elixir of sulfanilamide but felt no ill effects from the drug. A nation-wide effort to recover more than 700 bottles of the drug was being pushed yesterday. Five deaths from the elixir were reported in Georgia.

Resignation of German Economic Minister Also Is Seen for Reichsbank.

PARIS, Tuesday, Oct. 26.—(UP)—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, German minister of economy, was reported here today to have resigned.

Rumors of his resignation have been current for months.

One version of the rumors was that the "economic dictator" of Nazi Germany, who himself was not a Nazi, also would resign the presidency of the Reichsbank and would be succeeded by Count Lutz Schwerin von Krosigk, the present minister of finance.

Blonde, 15, Confesses Knifing Father to Death

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A slight blonde, 15-year-old schoolgirl explained she had stabbed her father to death today by calling "I thought he was going to kill mother," Queens County District Attorney Sullivan said.

Charles Breitfeller, 36, an automobile salesman, died shortly after the daughter, Gladys, twice plunged a seven-inch carving knife into him to defend her mother from attack, Sullivan related.

Rum-Sex Orgies at Swanky Oxford Angrily Denied by Men and Co-eds

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(UP)—Students of swanky Oxford University, both men and co-eds, rose up in a chorus of wrath, tonight against the published charges of one of their fellow students that the place is a hotbed of "drunken orgies and indulgences."

Keith Briant, editor last year of the undergraduate newspaper "Isis," made the allegations in his new book, "Oxford Limited," the review of which shocked parents over the breakfast table today.

Briant asserted, among other things, that one girl student out of five "experiments with sex" during her four years at one of the four women's colleges of Oxford.

The ratio for men students, he said, is considerably higher—about one out of three.

Most of the students were irate

10 More Possible Victims Feared in Prescriptions Issued in State.

Five deaths attributed to the deadly drug elixir of sulfanilamide were reported in Georgia yesterday as agents of the Pure Food and Drug Administration spurred efforts to trace down 10 prescriptions remaining in the state.

Fatalities apparently caused by doses of the poisonous drug are: A white man at Dahleaga, a negro of Wadley, who died in a Millen hospital; a negro in Barnesville; a negro baby at McDonough, and a negro at Swainsboro.

Elixir Death Denied.

At Waycross, Dr. K. C. Walden, chief of staff of the Atlantic Coast Line hospital, denied that a sixth man had died there from use of the drug. He said investigation in that city in connection with the alarm over the discovery that the elixir possesses toxic properties resulted in the case of a man brought there in desperate condition from Alabama.

A laboratory report, he said, showed the man died of poisoning but there was no indication of sulfanilamide, which was not administered there in any form.

Reports Confirmed. Until final investigation is made the reported deaths cannot be attributed directly to the poison.

United States Food and Drug Administration for the southeast, said yesterday. He confirmed the reports, however.

"We have received reports of these deaths," he said, "but whether the people died as a direct result to work."

$1,250,000 DRIVE FOR NEW SCHOOLS IS LAUNCHED HERE

Elimination of Portables Goal of Program Planned by City System, Aided by Fathers of Atlanta's Student Groups.

FINANCING PLANS TO BE DISCUSSED

Basement Classroom Use Would Also Be Ended If Projects Materialize; U. S. Aid Is Considered.

A building program totaling $1,250,000 to eliminate wooden portables and basement classrooms in the Atlanta school system was launched yesterday by members of the board of education in conjunction with the Fathers' Club of High School Boys.

Though means of raising the necessary money for the dozens of projects to be included in the program have not been decided upon, the buildings and grounds committee and several other members of the board have approved the plan, T. W. Clift, school business manager, said yesterday.

Program Plans.

The program plans include: 1. Completion of the central unit and the left wing of Boys' High school at a cost of $480,000. This permanent addition would remove students from Boys' High and Tech High from portables.

2. Erection of a $280,000 modern building at Murphy Junior High school, where students are now housed in portables.

3. Construction of a building at Maddox Junior High school at a cost of $140,000. Maddox pupils are also housed in portables.

4. Elimination of the worst basement classrooms from elementary schools at an estimated cost of $350,000.

To Aid All Schools. Clift said fathers of high school boys who have organized the club to push efforts for the Boys' and Tech High school addition will be asked to aid in obtaining the other necessary buildings.

At Maddox and Murphy Junior High schools, located on opposite sides of the city, it is planned to erect classrooms, libraries, cafeterias and administration suites, Clift declared.

In the two schools, all pupils would be taken from portable classrooms with the exception of some shop classes.

'38 COTTON ACRES CUT BY 2,000,000

Goal for Next Crop Ordered Reduced Because of Heavy Yield This Year

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The AAA made a 2,000,000-acre reduction today in the cotton crop goal for next year.

Approving the 1938 agricultural conservation program, Secretary Wallace fixed its "goal" so far as cotton is concerned at 27,000,000 to 29,000,000 acres. The goal previously had been placed at 29,000,000 to 31,000,000 acres.

Officials of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration said the change was decided upon because of the unusually large cotton crop this year.

The goal is to be divided by area and individual farmers, and growers required to limit their plantings to their share of it in order to qualify for government benefit payments.

Authorities estimated that the reduction in the acreage goal would mean about 680,000 bales less cotton, or yields next year averaged the normal amount to 170 pounds an acre.

In view of the government forecast of a 17,500,000-bale crop this year, AAA representatives said, the reduction was necessary to keep acreage "more in line with needs."

To prevent the acreage cut from diminishing federal rewards for co-operating growers, the rate of benefit payments was increased from 2 cents a pound to 2.4 cents on the normal yield of each acre.

FAST FIRE LADDER DELIVERED TO CITY

Aerial Truck Will Speed Rescues; Ordered After Cable Fire Disaster.

A modern 85-foot aerial ladder, which erects itself by spring action in a few seconds, arrived in Atlanta yesterday to be used by the fire department in protecting downtown sections. It will be placed in operation within the next few days.

The new piece of equipment was ordered purchased after hundreds of citizens protested last fall that three persons lost their lives in the Cable Piano Company fire November 19, 1936, because of delay in erecting the old-style wooden aerial ladder used by the department.

$27,000 Appropriation. Following the fire and loss of lives, an investigation of the fire department revealed the need of modern equipment.

Early this year the Hartfield administration obtained a $27,000 appropriation for the purchase of new fire equipment. This ladder truck is the first of this equipment to arrive.

Named the "O. J. Parker" for the fire chief, the new piece of equipment will be stationed at Station No. 4, on Pryor street, where it will be easily accessible to all downtown office buildings.

Pumper Being Built. With the arrival of the new ladder, the fire department now has three aerial ladders to be used in the business area.

A second piece of new equipment purchased under the program, a 1,000-gallon water pumper, is scheduled to arrive in Atlanta November 15 and will be stationed at Fire House No. 8, at Spring street and Carnegie way.

Purchase of the equipment was demanded by citizens who watched the Cable fire and saw two of the three victims fall back from windows, overcome by smoke and fumes as they waited in vain for firemen to erect the ladders.

White House Aide Sees Cohan Lampon F.D.R.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Prominent Washingtonians came here from the capital tonight to see George M. Cohan lampon the President, in "F. D. R. Be Right," musical satire on the New Deal.

Among those who saw Cohan's rollicking impersonation of Mr. Roosevelt was Colonel Edward W. Starling, chief of the White House secret service; Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, president of the American Red Cross, and Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, Washington publisher.

A capacity crowd packed the Ford theater to see the unprecedented spectacle of the President and his administration being baited on a stage.

Tavern Bandit Denies Monty Participated

Mother and Boyhood Companion Say Gaffer at Home During Holdup.

ELIZABETHTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 25.—(AP)—A confessed participant in a seven-year-old $700 roadhouse robbery for which Hollywood's golfing John (Monty) Montague is on trial, late today declared the brawny defendant was innocent.

William Carleton, who served a prison term for the crime, testified Montague was not a member of a quartet of robbers which on August 4, 1930, held up the Jay, N. Y., resort owned by Kin Hana, a Japanese.

A few hours earlier Montague's mother and another witness declared he was in Syracuse, N. Y., more than 200 miles distant, two hours before the robbery.

Carleton asserted a man named "Burns," and not Montague, was a fourth member of the gang.

Alibi Testimony. "Was the defendant among the four men who went to Kin Hana's roadhouse the night of the crime?" Defense Counsel Noonan queried.

"No, sir," was the reply. "Or did you see him at any time that night?"

"No, sir," replied the witness. The state charges that Montague, alias Laverne Moore; Carleton, Roger Norton, another confessed participant and John Sherry, now dead, executed the holdup.

Mrs. Mary Moore, the defendant's mother, told the jury in a clear voice that her son—known then as Laverne Moore—went to bed at home at midnight on August 4, 1930, the night of the crime, and remained there until the next morning.

This was two hours before Kin Hana's roadhouse was robbed.

BUSINESS SECTION OF CHEST TO MEET

Fourth Workers' Rally Will Be Held Today as Drive Enters Last Week

Atlanta's business and industrial life will have its special day in the Community Chest campaign today when volunteers in the business division will be honored at the fourth workers' rally at the Athletic Club.

The firms represented in this division and their employees contribute a large part of the Chest fund and campaign leaders hope the reports of their work today will push the campaign ahead of last year's figure and give it the impetus toward success.

Herbert Porter is chairman of this division, which has 36 sections, and almost 2,000 volunteer workers. He has asked all section leaders and organizers to attend with every possible report.

Giving an indication of real interest in this division, a number of firms and groups have reported large increases over previous years. Among these are the Fulton Supply Company, the Southern Freight Association, the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, J. L. Hawks Company, Beck & Gregg Hardware Company, Bennett Printing & Stamp Company, Ivan Allen-Marshall Company, Shaw-Walker Company and the Office Supply Company.

At the last report meeting the amount raised was less than a third of the need of $474,070, with the campaign nearing its final phase. Harry Sommers, general campaign chairman, has asked every volunteer worker to make every effort to wind up the campaign by Friday night, the scheduled closing date.

JURISDICTION CRUX OF BITTER DISPUTE

2 Rival Chiefs Keep Busy in Own Offices, But Are in Close Contact With All Developments.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Spokesmen for the AFL and the CIO pushed through a mass of preliminary questions today and reached the point of submitting their proposals for peace and unity in the ranks of labor.

Gathered about a conference table for the first time, representatives of the two embattled factions devoted two sessions today to a discussion of procedural problems, some of them highly controversial.

Then, a joint statement was issued, saying it was "hoped" that when the conference reconvened tomorrow, each side would be ready to suggest a "basis" for peace negotiations. To this, George Harrison, leader of the AFL delegation, added:

"Tomorrow we will take up the main question of the dispute. We will put our cards on the table and see what we can do with it."

Both Harrison and Philip Murray, leading CIO spokesman, told reporters that since the CIO delegation of 10 men and the AFL delegation of three had full authority, respectively, to negotiate any kind of a settlement, the 13 constituted a "full-fledged" delegation.

Declines Answer. While he declined to answer a specific question on the point, this was taken to mean that what had appeared to be a difficult preliminary question—the size of the respective delegations—had been solved to the satisfaction of both sides.

John L. Lewis, CIO chieftain, had previously insisted that if a peace conference was to be held the federation should send a much larger delegation, one representing a broad segment of the union holding membership in the federation.

In addition to this and other procedural matters, the question of what new members each taken in since the organizations split apart two years ago was raised.

"Both parties found that they needed certain information in order to advance discussions in the conference and it is expected that information will be available by tomorrow morning," the statement said.

In explanation, Murray said the federation has asked specifically for complete identification of the unions which have joined the CIO.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(P)—The supreme court agreed today to pass upon a second case testing the government's constitutional right to finance public power projects.

Increasing cloudiness and higher temperatures are predicted for Atlanta today following a brief week-end cold wave during which the mercury tumbled to 30 degrees Sunday morning.

"Temperatures will range between 44 and 70 degrees," the weatherman said. The low yesterday was 41 degrees, while the high was 68. No rain is expected.

OFFICER WARNS U. S.
OF AIR ATTACK PERIL*Enemy Must Be Deprived of Bases for Operation,
General Asserts.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(P)—A warning that the United States may become vulnerable to attack from the air within five years came today from Major General Frank M. Andrews, chief of the general headquarters air force.

Writing in Army Ordnance, publication of the Army Ordnance Association, General Andrews visualized war planes of such tremendous range and carrying capacity as to make them effective weapons against this country.

Against this threat, he said, pursuit planes and anti-aircraft guns must be regarded as inadequate.

"Air attacks can not be stopped by any means now known," the general wrote, adding:

"Bombing planes are the chief means of meeting this air threat by destroying the bases of the enemy planes, either ashore, or on aircraft carriers."

It follows, Andrews said, that the "first mission of our air forces will be to deny to the enemy, through independent air operation, any suitable bases, floating or ground, from which he might operate. It is to that end that we are designing our bombardment organizations and training our personnel."

BUSINESSMEN URGE PRESIDENT TO HELP IN CHARTING POLICY

Roosevelt Discusses Long-Range Planning With Committee.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 25.—(AP)—President Roosevelt discussed with a committee today the long-range planning of Secretary Roper's business advisory council.

The committee, headed by Council Chairman W. Averell Harriman, New York banker, invited the President to attend either the December or January meetings of the business advisory group, composed of 50 businessmen chosen by Roper on a nation-wide basis.

Harriman said the President expressed hope he could attend a council dinner.

It was indicated sessions of congress might prevent his attending.

Guard Recommendations.

Harriman said he and members of his council could not disclose their recommendations regarding business matters or what problems they had under study. All their advice, he said, goes unpublished to Secretary Roper, who makes such use of it as he sees fit.

One use is to have it available to the President for guidance in shaping national policy.

The council chairman specifically said that the current stock market sag and present business conditions in general were not discussed with Mr. Roosevelt by the committee.

Decided Before Slump.

Harriman emphasized that the decision to invite the President to attend a meeting was made by the council in June before stocks commenced their general slump.

The council, he asserted, was more concerned with long range rather than immediate problems and the President was told today how hard the group is at work on the national business future.

Accompanying Harriman were

Boulevard Memorial To Dr. Long Asked

Renaming West Peachtree street the Crawford Long boulevard as a permanent memorial to the Georgia doctor who discovered ether, was proposed by Mayor Hartsfield yesterday by Dr. Frank K. Boland, Atlanta physician.

Dr. Boland pointed out the city has many streets named Peachtree, but that it has no memorial to Dr. Long. West Peachtree, he explained, actually extends a few blocks past Pershing Point, where it intersects with Peachtree street. If it were further extended it would become a great boulevard that would be an outstanding memorial to the Georgia doctor, he said. Hartsfield referred the matter to the city planning commission.

Ralph Flanders, of Springfield, Vt.; Morris Leeds, of Philadelphia, and Clarence Francis, of New York city.

CONSTITUTION LIVES ON RIGHT—RIVERS

Governor Speaks at Observation by B'nai B'rith Lodge No. 144.

The United States constitution has survived where those of Spain, Germany and other countries have failed because it is based on human rights and not just power, Governor Rivers told members of the B'nai B'rith Gate City Lodge No. 144 last night.

The lodge was observing the sesqui-centennial of the United States constitution.

"Our democratic government is designed to care for the minorities, for the majorities can care for themselves," the Governor declared. "We are a people with a government designed to help others."

The state of Georgia operates on four fundamentals, all included in the constitution of the United States, Rivers said.

"First, we have an educated people. This year 200,000 more children are going to school because free school books have been provided," he declared. "Second is health. The income of our people should be doubled within 10 years because of the million dollars spent on public health this year as compared with $100,000 spent last year."

Home and religious freedom were the third and fourth principles listed.

E. P. SIMPSON DIES AT OFFICE IN TOCCOA

Mr. Simpson, a native of Andersonville, S. C., moved to Toccoa 50 years ago, and had been very prominent in the business life of the city. He was an active member of the Gospel Tabernacle of Hendersonville, N. C.

He is survived by one son, Palmer Simpson, of Jacksonville, Fla., and two daughters, Mrs. Ralph Gossitt, of Greenville, S. C., and Mrs. Jack Childers, of Portsmouth, Va.

Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

STATE RADIO BODY PLEDGED U. S. AID

Development of Georgia-Owned WGST Into Major Plant Is Discussed.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—After a conference today with Chairman Frank McNinch, of the Federal Communications Commission, Vice Chairman Lawrence Wood Robert Jr., of the newly created Georgia Radio Commission, said that assurance of full co-operation with the Georgia agency had been given by the federal body.

In company with Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, and Charles Reid, of Atlanta, two other members of the State Radio Commission, Vice Chairman Robert held a lengthy conference with Chairman McNinch and Commissioner Eugene O. Sykes regarding plans of the Georgia commission.

Preliminary plans were also discussed at the conference for the development of the state-owned station WGST, now operated by Georgia Tech, as one of the major broadcasting plants of the south. Mr. Robert said that at the proper time the state would file an application with the federal communications body for increasing the station's power and making it suitable for more extensive use in disseminating farm market and other agricultural information.

"We were given every assurance of the federal communications co-operation with the Georgia commission," said Vice President Chairman Robert. "In addition to the development of WGST as a major radio station the state's aim will be to preserve that important channel for Georgia and not let it go elsewhere."

Governor Rivers is chairman of the Georgia radio body, other members of which are Clark Howell, publisher of The Constitution; John Spivey, president of the state senate, and Roy Harris, speaker of the Georgia assembly.

BELGIAN PREMIER QUILTS FOR FIGHT

Van Zeeland To Defend Self Against Charges Involving Bank Action.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Premier Paul Van Zeeland resigned tonight to defend himself as a private citizen against charges of his political enemies concerning the administration of the Belgian National Bank when he was its vice governor five years ago.

His cabinet ministers resigned en bloc with Van Zeeland and drafted a letter to show their confidence in his integrity.

Van Zeeland's decision to quit the government for a fight on his foes' persistent cry of "scandal" in connection with his bank administration threatened to force at least a few days' postponement of the nine-power conference called for October 30 at Brussels to seek "amicable means" of ending the Chinese-Japanese war.

Moves were under way to retain the same kind of coalition government with little change of personnel, perhaps headed by Foreign Minister P. H. Spaak, Finance Minister Henri de Man or even a non-politician as premier.

The collective resignation followed a day of swiftly moving political drama during which Van Zeeland consulted privately with King Leopold and some of his colleagues. He then called a cabinet meeting, informed the ministers of his decision and went immediately to the palace to tender the government's resignation.

The Princeton-educated Van Zeeland was expected to tell the country by radio how he planned squarely to face the judicial investigation of the national bank which goes back to the five-year-old failure of the Goldzieher and Penzo bank. The government opposition charged the national bank, while Van Zeeland was vice governor, had been negligent in accepting doubtful paper from the Goldzieher and Penzo Bank.

BOURBON COUNT FIGHTS DIVORCE

Alfonso's Son, in Sickbed, Contests 2d Wife's Suit.

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 25.—(UP)—The Count of Covadonga, who is in serious condition from an attack of haemophilia, the disease he inherited as a member of the royal Bourbon family, cabled from his sickbed tonight that he would contest the divorce being sought in Havana by his second common-law wife, pretty Marta Rocafort.

The handsome 30-year-old son of former King Alfonso of Spain suffered a blood hemorrhage in the left side of his face today, his second within two weeks, and Jack Fleming, the count's secretary, said he would undergo transfusion either tonight or tomorrow to coagulate his non-clotting blood.

Despite his illness, which recently forced abandonment of divorce proceedings instituted mutually, the count took vigorous exception to the ground of incompatibility on which his wife based a new petition filed today at Havana.

SUNDAY SCHOOL BUS.

EVANS, Ga., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Daily school buses have been a familiar sight on Georgia roads for some time, but to the Presbyterian church here goes the credit for having one of the first Sunday school buses. Sunday school officials report attendance has quadrupled since the bus started making rounds of the rural areas on Sunday. No charge is made for the bus ride.

BUILDING LOANS SHOW INCREASE IN MARIETTA

MARIETTA, Ga., Oct. 25.—Home constructions in Marietta gained sharply during the first nine months of this year, as compared with the similar period in 1936, figures made available here today indicated.

Two federal savings and loan associations increased the number of loans made from a total of $277,294 to $361,817—a gain of $84,523 this year.

During the same period assets of the associations rose from $298,969 to $397,101.

173 NARCOTIC CASES BOOKED IN DISTRICT

3,469 Arrested Over Country in Year, U. S. Bureau Reports.

Narcotic law violators arrested in the Atlanta district of the Bureau of Narcotics numbered 173 in the last fiscal year out of 3,469 for all 15 districts, according to figures released yesterday by the bureau.

The tenth district, composed of Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi, led with 590 arrested. The New York district, termed the clearing house for smuggled narcotics, ranked second with 502 captured.

During the year the bureau's agents seized 5,140 lots of habit-forming drugs, comprising a total of 3,962 ounces, 2,786 persons were convicted of narcotic violations and fines of $200,101 were imposed, the figures show.

Regions where good salaries and fast, easy spending prevail drew more narcotic peddlers than other sections, it was pointed out. Officials said the Texas oil fields with high wages, easy spending and conditions reminiscent of the old west lured many narcotic violators, as did Louisiana's greatest city, New Orleans.

Other districts reporting are: Boston 121; Philadelphia 210; Baltimore 150; Nashville 232; Detroit 221; Kansas City 281; Minneapolis 29; Denver 50; San Francisco 272; Seattle 100, and Honolulu 96.

Dr. T. E. Middlebrooks, supervisor of the Atlanta office, said violators in this district have been reduced by speedy convictions in the United States courts.

Charles Macklin, an English actor, played Shylock, late in the 18th century, at the age of 99.

CONVICT RECAPTURED IN REIDSVILLE SWAMP

REIDSVILLE, Ga., Oct. 25.—Another convict made an unsuccessful attempt to flee Georgia's new state prison near here today, but his freedom was short lived.

The convict was identified as a "young man named Ross." The prisoner, Acting Warden George Fisher said, was cleaning up the grounds outside the prison when he made his dash for liberty.

Fisher immediately organized a posse and overtook the prisoner in a near-by swamp.

FASCISTS REPULSED IN FIERCE BATTLES TO HAMMER WEDGE

Franco Announces Rebel Domination of 72 Per Cent of Population.

HENDAYE, Franco - Spanish Frontier, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The insurgent drive to split a wedge between Catalonia and Valencia encountered stiff resistance today along the Aragon front in north-east Spain.

Frontier reports said the line extending more than 100 miles south from the French border to the Zaragoza sector remained virtually unchanged following bloody infantry battles near the Pyrenees and an artillery duel at Zuera, 15 miles north of Zaragoza.

Insurgents declared government counter attacks on the north Aragon front had been repulsed and their troops in the Sabinanigo sector had moved into the uplands east of the Hermitage of San Pedro under an artillery barrage.

Moving Italians.
Generalissimo Francisco Franco was reported moving heavy forces of Italian and Moroccan troops into Zaragoza province after the conquest of northwestern Spain.

Franco's forces opened the Sabinanigo drive with heavy artillery fire from the Hermitage of San Pedro before the waves of Moroccan troops advanced. The first infantry assault was repulsed by the government troops but the second insurgent charge routed the Valencia militiamen who retired eastward to the Oson woods.

The insurgent communiqué indicated another victory south of Zaragoza at Rubia de Albarion.

Quick Decision on Crop Control Necessary, Says N. C. Solon Here

Congressman Weaver Thinks Action Advisable To Aid Early-Planting Farmers.

By YOLANDE GWIN.

Personal doubt of the wisdom of the special session of congress was expressed yesterday by Representative Zebulon Weaver, of Asheville, "but for the sake of the farmers" the congressman thinks the "crop-control bill should be attended to."

Immediate action on crop control legislation is necessary because farmers in some parts of the deep south plant cotton during the latter part of February and the early part of March, the eleventh North Carolina district representative declared.

"It would be hazardous to begin discussion of the crop-control bill at the regular session in January for this reason. By calling this special session the bill will be out of the way by the regular session time. Then we can go right for the wage and hour bill, tax revision and then there will be only the routine bills left."

Prompt Disposition.

"Representative John O'Connor, of New York, chairman of the rules committee, has urged a prompt disposition of urgent matters before congress and hopes for adjournment by April 1," said Weaver.

Discussing the recent western trip of President Roosevelt, the North Carolina congressman said he believed that the President "had added greatly to his strength."

In his opinion the Hugo Black and reported a number of prisoners captured south of the Ebro river.

Consolidation operations were proceeding rapidly in conquered Oviedo province, insurgent headquarters reported, with train service re-established over the principal lines.

66 Per cent of Territory.

Franco announced the complete domination of the northwest gives the insurgent regime control of 72 per cent of the population and 66 per cent of the territory of Spain after 15 months of civil war.

Insurgent headquarters at Salamanca published a telegram of "personal felicitations" from Premier Mussolini of Italy to Franco for the northern victory.

The Mussolini telegram said "the news was received with the greatest enthusiasm by all Italy."

Three tri-motor Italian bombers were reported shot down just before dawn by government pursuit planes in air raids on Barcelona and other Catalan coastal cities.

F. D. R. SON IN HOSPITAL FOR TOOTH EXTRACTION

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—John Roosevelt, youngest son of President Roosevelt, today underwent a dental operation at Phillips house of the Massachusetts General hospital.

Hospital officials said his condition was "satisfactory." The operation was described as "minor" and involved the extraction of wisdom teeth. Officials said he would remain at the hospital temporarily as a precautionary measure.

MRS. O'DAY IS URGED FOR VICE PRESIDENT

New York Congresswoman Is Honored by Democrats in Athens.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 25.—Mrs. Caroline O'Day, congresswoman from New York and alumna of Lucy Cobb Institute, tonight was proposed for the Democratic nomination for vice president in 1940.

Mrs. Lamar Rutherford Lipscomb, of Atlanta and Lakemont, president of the Friends of Roosevelt Club in Georgia, speaking at a dinner given in Mrs. O'Day's honor by the Clarke County Young Democratic Club, declared a woman should be the next vice presidential candidate and "no other woman in the country is better fitted for that honor than Caroline O'Day."

Professor Robert L. McWhorter presided at the dinner, held at the Y. W. C. A. and attended by a large and enthusiastic crowd.

Speakers, in addition to Mrs. Lipscomb, included Mayor T. S. McEll and Eugene A. Epping, president of the Young Democratic Club.

Mrs. O'Day, who is a personal friend and political associate of Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt, spoke briefly, telling of the humanitarian work of the President's wife both prior to and since his election. She termed the first lady "the greatest woman in the world."

The New Deal, she declared, is "here to stay."

The New York congresswoman was guest of honor at a luncheon at Lucy Cobb and at an ensuing reception earlier in the day. Chancellor S. V. Sanford was the principal speaker at the luncheon.

LABOR CONFEREES FACE VITAL ISSUES

Including 605 local industrial unions.

"We are asking the federation to submit to us the same information regarding their new groups," Murray added.

In these requests for information, observers saw arising the knotty question of jurisdiction. If a peace plan is to be adopted the leaders must decide which workers or industries or plants lie within the sphere of the CIO and which fall within the AFL's field of operations.

Nub of Controversy.

For the nub of the controversy is: Shall organizational work follow the lines of craft unionism espoused by the federation (that is a separate union for each trade within an industry) or the industrial unionism of the CIO (one big union for all employees in a single industry)?

For more than a year the AFL and the CIO have fought it out on that basis. Neither has hesitated to raid the other's membership. The strife between them has been bitter and augmented by unrestrained name-calling.

At the recent Denver convention the federation's executive committee authorized to expel from the federation the ten unions which have allied themselves with the CIO. The same convention, however, approved the idea—suggested by Lewis—of today's peace meeting.

The conference was held in a sumptuous corner suite at the Willard hotel. Two tables were shoved together in the middle of an elaborately furnished room and the 13 delegates gathered around them.

Meanwhile, the principals in the dispute, Lewis and William Green, president of the federation, were busy in their own offices. They were, however, kept in constant touch with developments.

SHIPPING IS TIED UP IN 9 SOUTHERN PORTS

(UP)—Shipping virtually was suspended tonight in nine south Atlantic and east gulf ports, pending signing of a contract between International Longshoremen's Association and coastwise steamship lines.

Representatives of shippers and the union last Wednesday agreed to a truce, ending a strike which had crippled shipping for six days in Wilmington, N. C.; Charleston, S. C.; Brunswick and Savannah, Ga.; Jacksonville, Port Pierce, Port Everglades, Miami and Tampa, Fla.

The truce set November 5 as a deadline for completion of negotiations toward a contract to replace one which expired September 30.

SAILORS HELD IN MUTINY HURL 'INJUSTICE' CHARGE

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 25.—(UP)—Fourteen members of the crew of the S. S. Alge, accused of mutiny in the harbor of Montevideo, Uruguay, declared tonight they would stay in jail until government officials recognize "the injustice they are doing us and all other seamen."

"The United States Maritime Commission owners of the vessel, now supported by the United States attorney general, is attempting to characterize us as vicious criminals," said a statement signed by the jailed men, all members of the National Maritime Union.

They contended they had "done nothing which every other working man would not do" and that the law invoked for their arrest was enacted in 1790 and was not intended for use against seamen.

NEW SOCIETY EDITOR.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Knoxville Journal today announced the appointment of Mrs. Joe T. Smith as society editor. Mrs. Smith has been secretary to the general manager of the paper for the last nine years.

2 KILLED, 2 HURT IN STOCK BLAST

Pair Hurl 18 Feet to Floor of Flame-Filled Terminal Waiting Room.

Mysteriously ignited benzene fumes caused an explosion in the negro women's rest room of the Terminal Station yesterday morning which fatally burned two painters as they put a cleaning preparation on the walls.

Two other persons were injured. The dead are Homer Manning, 45, painter, of 454 Forsyth street, S. W., and J. R. Hightower, his helper, 45, of Stockbridge, Ga.

Injured were H. L. Buck, 45, foreman, slight head bruises caused by a flying paint bucket, and James Smith, of 515 Washington street, minor burns and a sprained back.

Flames Envelope Room.

Witnesses said there was a resounding blast and then the room was enveloped in flames.

Manning and Hightower, on a scaffold 18 feet above the floor, were hurled to the floor.

They ran screaming to the adjoining waiting room, where three negro men pulled off their overcoats and wrapped them around the men to smother the fire. Both died from their burns several hours later at local hospitals.

Assistant Fire Chief Butler said investigators were unable to learn who struck the match causing the explosion, but they did learn neither workman had lighted a match.

Manning Funeral Today.

Manning was survived by his wife; mother, Mrs. John A. Manning; a daughter, Mrs. P. O. Ard; three sons, John H. Manning Jr., George W. and W. T. Manning; three brothers, J. C. H. A. and H. H. Manning; one sister, Mrs. J. A. Wilson.

Victim of 10,500 Dog Bites Is Dead; 16 Years as Catcher Leads to Grave

Will Lively Was Fond of Those He Had to Kill, Widow Says.

By MAXINE LAND.

The same occupation which made a living for Will Lively—also made his death. Today the man who has been bitten 10,500 times by dogs is dead.

Dogcatcher in Atlanta for 16 years, Lively always had a fondness for dogs.

Between 1917 and 1933 he put up with a lot from them just as they put up with a lot from him.

Doctors said Lively died Sunday from pneumonia.

But his widow wouldn't accept that as the only cause. She is confident her husband's death was hastened by the bites of hundreds of dogs and the numerous injections shot into his body yearly to ward off hydrophobia.

She believes the too frequent injections undermined his health.

Lively's job was catching dogs and killing them. Time has revealed his death was just as certain as theirs.

Many days after making his rounds he had to go to Grady hospital for shots against hydrophobia.

"He came in every day with four or five bites on his hands," said his widow yesterday as she sat near his casket waiting for the hours to drag by until 2:30 today when Will Lively will be buried.

"He never seemed to mind about the bites. He didn't worry about them at all and he got a kick out of his job although he liked dogs and hated to kill them. He got in his truck every day and started out. He had with him a broom handle with a wire on the end of it to catch dogs with. Then he took them to the stockyards. If they weren't claimed, he killed them. At first they used electricity to kill the dogs. Then one day he decided to kill them with a strychnine needle. After this method was used for a while, they started killing them with gas."

So each afternoon after the day's work was over, Will Lively returned home—his hands covered with bites and scratches—and possibly with another injection. Grady doctors said it was unlikely the injections had anything to do with the death.

"In 1933 he found he couldn't go on. He was too ill. For a while he stayed at home," said Mrs. Lively. "Then his mind went bad, so they kept him in jail here for 25 days and let him out. But he wasn't much better. On May 8th last year he was injured in an automobile accident. His hip was broken and he had to go back to the hospital. After that he went around in a wheel chair."

He is survived by four children, Alonzo, 19; Marvin, 13; William, 11, and Virginia, 4; four sisters, Mrs. Mary Pugh, Mrs. A. D. Owens, Mrs. Flossie Benton and Mrs. A. D. Roach and two brothers, John and Joe Lively.

Taken sick with pneumonia last Thursday, he was taken to Grady but was returned to his home at 717 Tumlin street, Sunday. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 today at Brown's Memorial church, with the Revs. Tom Smith and Jack Waddell officiating. Burial will be in Casey's cemetery.

High Spots in Feud Between AFL, CIO

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Here are the high spots in the development of the AFL-CIO rivalry:

October 16, 1935.—The American Federation of Labor convention turned down John L. Lewis' proposal that all workers in each big industry be organized into one big union without regard to traditional AFL or CIO union lines.

November 9, 1935.—Lewis and associates started the Committee for Industrial Organization to carry out his proposal.

November 23, 1935.—William Green, president, advised Lewis by letter against continuing the CIO, which he said entailed "the danger of division and discord."

January 23, 1936.—The AFL executive council appointed a committee to try to patch up the differences with the CIO (the committee made no progress).

August 5, 1936.—The AFL executive council ordered 10 member unions to dissolve the CIO within 30 days or stand suspended.

September 5, 1936.—Having refused to obey the council's order, the 10 unions were suspended. (Later, the American Newspaper Guild and the Fur Workers joined the suspended unions.)

October 9, 1936.—Max Zaritsky, president of the Hatters' Union and a CIO member, proposed a peace conference. The CIO refused to meet the AFL peace committee.

November 7, 1936.—The CIO deputized Lewis to talk peace with Green, who replied he had no authority to do so.

November 23, 1936.—The AFL convention in Tampa, Fla., upheld the council's suspension of the rebel unions but refused to expel them.

May 24, 1937.—The American Federation of Labor, at a special conference in Cincinnati, declared open war on the CIO and voted to increase its dues to build up a war chest.

October 11, 1937.—The AFL convention in Denver gave the executive council power to expel the rebel unions.

October 12, 1937.—The CIO meeting in Atlantic City proposed a peace conference. The AFL finally agreed.

Buy a Farm at 50—CORNELIA STRATTON PARKER TELLS WOMEN

New Interests and Joys Await Women with Courage to Break Away from Doldrums of Middle Age

"WHAT HAVE I GOT TO LOOK FORWARD TO?"

Thousands of women start asking themselves this question between 40 and 50, says Cornelia Stratton Parker, well-known writer and lecturer.

Some of them are mothers of families, whose children don't need them any longer. Some are women in business who have begun to grow weary of a career.

"Get out of the rut," advises Mrs. Parker. "Do something different. Don't just stagnate."

Her own solution was to buy a rundown old New England farm—on a mortgage—and start making it over into a comfortable country home for her children and grandchildren to come to. Until she could pay off the mortgage, she took in paying guests.

"People said I shouldn't undertake such a venture at my age," declares Mrs. Parker. "At my age indeed! I was approaching 50—the very best age to appreciate the joy of building my own fireplace, eating my own vegetables, watching the seasons march across my own acres."

Nothing Impossible at 50

Women shouldn't "settle down" when they reach middle life, Mrs. Parker believes. Between 40 and 50 is THE VERY BEST TIME to be seeking new adventures, forming new interests, making new friends. So long as a woman keeps HEALTH and STRENGTH—nothing is impossible at 50, she declares.

I keep house for my daughter, who is in business, and my granddaughter, who goes to school. I do all the housework and laundry, and the marketing and cooking. I got so tired and rundown that they had to have a girl help me in the store—I was even cross with her all the time, so I decided I ought to do something about it.

I had heard about Fleischmann's Yeast and decided to try it myself, and I was certainly glad. The indigestion I'd had left—I no longer had headaches. I began to be peppy again and had plenty of energy for my work.

So I began to eat yeast regularly, three times a day. It did just what I hoped. I feel fine again, and full of pep. My housework goes faster, even the washing for my big family—I play games again with my children.

And I still eat Fleischmann's Yeast, because it has given me a new lease on life.

CANDIDATE QUILTS COMMISSION RAGE; BALLOTS MADE UP

Middlebrook's Withdrawal Cuts Field to 14; Politicians Hope for Quiet Campaign.

One of Fulton county's 15 aspirants to the county commission dropped out yesterday. T. M. Middlebrook, south side candidate, withdrew from the race in favor of Troy G. Chastain.

Ballots were made up in the ordinary's office yesterday and sent to the printers. Claude C. Mason, chief clerk in the ordinary's office, said.

Names of the other 14 candidates in the race will be on the ballot at election time, November 9. Political sources, however, predicted several more would drop out of the race before election.

Order of Ballot.
The order in which the names will go on the ballot is as follows:

Byron Bettis Sr., Troy G. Chastain, Dr. C. W. Childs, Grover Clark, Edgar Craighead, R. T. Dutton, R. H. Everett, C. O. Johnson, W. M. Mitcham, W. D. Newman, Thomas Croom Partridge, George Starr Peck, Nelson T. Spratt, and Leo A. Sullivan.

Withdrawal of Middlebrook leaves only two south side candidates, Everett and Mitcham, in the field against 12 northsiders.

Meanwhile, political breezes were blowing hot and cold through courthouse corridors—hot in the direction of Chastain, and cold toward other northsiders talked as sure bets to get a large portion of the courthouse vote.

"Handshake" Campaign.
With a quiet election, confined strictly to the usual "handshake" type of campaign, the courthouse candidate looms as the favorite to win the election, well-informed sources predicted.

However, should a real issue arise in the campaign which would arouse the public, courthouse political factional prestige would be threatened by a large outside vote, political observers asserted.

In the recent senate race less than 5,000 out of a voting list of more than 40,000 went to the polls.

What courthouse political circles want is a quiet election, according to political observers, for with a small outside vote they can elect the candidate they are backing.

On the other hand, the courthouse vote was said to be still split, although in some quarters it was said political differences had been ironed out in favor of one candidate.

Names of Edgar Craighead and Nelson T. Spratt were still riding the waves of courthouse gossip. Starr Peck was mentioned, along with other northsiders, as a strong candidate.

It is generally conceded a north side candidate will win the race. Commissioner J. A. Ragsdale and George F. Longino already have come out urging that voters elect a representative from the north side, at present unrepresented on the commission.

RIVERS MAY CALL ASSEMBLY EARLIER

Roosevelt Announces He Won't Reach Georgia Until Thanksgiving.

Governor Rivers said yesterday that President Roosevelt's announcement that he could not reach Georgia before the morning of Thanksgiving Day might cause a change in the plan for convening the special session of the general assembly the same morning. The President has announced in Washington that contrary to previous arrangements he cannot reach Georgia until Thanksgiving morning and the Gainesville celebration, commemorating the rebuilding of the city following the disastrous 1898 tornado and fire has been moved back one day to meet the convenience of the chief executive.

Governor Rivers said he was extremely anxious to be at Gainesville for the celebration and that he knew a number of legislators likewise desire to attend. He therefore is considering opening the special session Wednesday, the day before Thanksgiving.

Governor Rivers plans to address the assembly the following Monday.

The Pulse of the Public

The columns of the Constitution are always open to the expressions of the public, regardless of the opinion expressed. The only limitation on communications is that they shall be signed, be brief—preferably not longer than two or three hundred words—and not libelous. All communications will be subject to editing, and none will be returned unless postage is inclosed.

PRICES ON FARM MACHINES

Editor Constitution: I read with much interest your editorial, "Getting to the Root."

Knowing that you are interested in setting forth the true facts please permit me to say it is my understanding that agricultural implement manufacturers in this country do not enjoy a protective tariff as a whole. There may be a few items like cream separators or gas engines, etc., that have tariff protection.

In regard to American agricultural machines being sold to farmers in foreign countries at lower prices than those at which they are sold to farmers in this country, will say that having spent more than 15 years in foreign countries, selling American-made implements to foreign dealers and farmers, I am in position to state that this is without any foundation in fact.

Such statements have been made repeatedly in the press and even in the halls of congress and seem to have gone unrefuted until they have been pretty generally accepted. However, they are not true.

The Department of Foreign and Domestic Commerce at Washington some years ago had an investigation made by their foreign attaches, with the result that the facts failed to confirm the statements.

C. M. LANCASTER, Manager B. F. Avery & Sons Company, Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 25, 1937.

NEWTON DISCUSSES LIQUOR SITUATION

Editor Constitution: Your leading editorial Saturday on "The Curse of Prohibition," based on the statement of the Fulton county grand jury that "all crime is rooted in the illicit sale of liquor," calls our attention anew to the menace of organized crime in Atlanta and other Georgia cities—a fact which should challenge intelligent and unremitting effort on the part of good citizens to end this condition of anarchy.

But is it altogether fair to say that prohibition is entirely responsible for bootlegging when we remember what obtained in Georgia under legalized liquor and when we know what obtains in neighboring states today under legalized liquor?

Can figures be cited to establish the proposition that the liquor traffic can be legally controlled? I believe the people of Georgia would be glad to see such facts brought forward as a basis of honest consideration of this proposal of the Fulton county grand jury that the prohibition law be repealed.

I have always regarded prohibition as a means to an end—the outlawing of the liquor traffic. I do not believe prohibition has fully succeeded in that effort, but I have not been convinced that conditions under prohibition, deplorable as they are, are as bad as they would be under legalized liquor. I will gladly welcome facts which prove that some other form of control is more effective, but I respectfully insist that we ought to have facts and not mere opinions on which to base our conclusions.

I regard highly your courageous approach to every question affecting the welfare of our people. LOUIE D. NEWTON, Pastor, Druid Hills Baptist church, Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 25, 1937.

IMPORTANT QUESTIONS

Editor Constitution: Your editorial in regard to the hearing on farm legislation was well-timed.

Although you dwell mostly on the tariffs there are other important questions that should be considered:

1. Freight rates are very important.
2. Efficiency, still more so.
3. Cost of production in the southeast, and in the southwest.
4. Cost of production in United States and in other countries.

5. Does high prices for cotton in the United States encourage production elsewhere?

6. What proportion of world consumption of cotton today is American, and what was it 10 years ago?

7. Would a steady average price of American cotton around 10 cents for a few years, discourage production in other countries?

8. In any discussion of the tariffs in congress, are our representatives and senators more influenced by a few southern industrialists than they are by the cotton growers?

A. S. TAYLOR, Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 25, 1937.

'Act Dumb,' Champ Speller Advises, As Men Don't Like Smart Women

Martha Bledsoe Receives Constitution Trophy From Governor Rivers, Who Congratulates Her on Ability To Hurdle 16-Cylinder Words.

By MAXINE LAND. That men don't like smart women is the belief of Martha Bledsoe, 14-year-old state champion speller, who's pretty smart herself.

But she's not talking from experience, merely from observation. "It takes a smart woman to know when to act dumb," she said. "The smarter she is the less she will exhibit it."

Martha, a senior in high school, was presented yesterday with The Constitution's silver trophy for the state spelling championship which she won at the Southeastern fair. Governor Rivers presented the cup and extended his congratulations.

"My mother started coaching me when I was four. I learned to read, write and spell before I entered school. Then I skipped the first grade and entered the second."

"My mother was a teacher herself, and it was only natural that she wanted to teach me as much as she could. She is teaching business training and freshman English now but she doesn't coach me any more."

The champion speller of the state doesn't want to be a teacher.

SUMMER ARRIVES IN ARCTIC REGION

MacGregor Wireleses Temperature Is 27 Degrees.

By CLIFFORD J. MACGREGOR. (Copyright, 1937, by The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.) REINDEER POINT, Greenland, Oct. 25.—(By Wireles)—Indian summer comes to the Arctic. Last week, the temperature at the MacGregor expedition base here was 13 below zero and it looked as if winter had arrived for good. A sudden shift in the wind from the north to a southerly direction, however, brought in much warmer, moist air in the last few days and the temperature has been steadily rising. It now stands at 27 above zero. Light snow has been falling the last three days. There is two and a half feet of snow on the ground. The harbor ice is covered with slush and is very dangerous to travel upon it.

F. D. R. ASKS STATES TO BACK PAY BILL

Plea Made at Conference on State Labor Legislation at Capital.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(P)—President Roosevelt asked today for state co-operation in administration of the proposed wage-hour law.

In a message to more than 100 delegates to the fourth annual conference on state labor legislation, the President said he had called a special session of congress "to enact, among other things, a wage and hour bill which I hope will supplement and strengthen your legislation in behalf of workers."

"In the administration of the federal legislation," he continued, "we shall need your active participation so that by joint effort we may develop a fuller protection to the workers of the country than either the federal government alone or the states could achieve in their respective jurisdictions."

"I hope that your discussions of administrative problems will serve to focus attention on the importance of further administration as years have focussed attention on legislative standards."

Secretary Perkins, opening the three-day conference, declared that more beneficial state labor laws had been enacted since 1933 than ever before.

N. Y. CONGRESS RACE EYED AS F.D.R. TEST

Three-Cornered Contest in Swank Section Centers on Personalities.

By IRA WOLFERT. (Copyright, 1937, by The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Whoever becomes the people's choice November 2, Washington will see an unusual freshman when the new representative in congress of New York's seventeenth district, called the richest in the world, arrives to take his seat.

The election is being held in this off-year to fill the vacancy created by the death of Theodore A. Peyser, Democrat, who rode to Capitol Hill from the normally Republican district in 1930 on the tide that had set in against President Hoover.

Test of Roosevelt. It has attracted national attention from political observers seeking a new test of President Roosevelt's strength after the debacle of the court plan and the business recession.

However, the campaigns of the three leading candidates—Bruce Barton, the Republican; George B. Backer, the American Labor party candidate; and Stanley M. Osseman, the Democrat—have not developed the national administration as a clear-cut issue. It is basically a personality contest among a liberal Republican, a conservative Democrat, and one who classifies himself as a Liberal.

Wealthy "Unionist." In this race the standard of the New Deal is in the grasp of George Backer, a young and wealthy man of the theater who came in from an extensive Long Island waterfront estate to accept the trade union label and run as the candidate of the American Labor party.

He calls himself a "liberal" and thinks it is time the nation divided into two "real" parties, the one dedicated to the old conservative way, the other to a solution of social problems by government.

The seventeenth district includes some of the most de luxe residence real estate in the world—Fifth, Park and Madison avenues, Central Park South and Central Park West—as well as some of the city's poorest tenement districts. Two-thirds of the seventeenth is either wealthy or quite well off, while one-third of it is on relief.

A special committee of the Fulton county grand jury devoted its time yesterday to work on general presentments, in which recommendations for clean-ups of alleged police graft and the hijacking racket in Atlanta are to be embodied.

While plans were being laid in the solicitor general's office for further probing of organized rackets in Atlanta, the grand jury committee was preparing to call county commissioners in this afternoon for routine questioning, in line with its special duty to investigate county matters.

The grand jury, to be discharged Friday, will make public its reports on county affairs in the general presentments to be read at time of discharge.

LOTTERY OUTFITS PLAN 'FOOL-PROOF' OPERATIONS HERE

Reorganization Action Comes as Law Officers Say
'Bug Is Killed.'

More than a dozen former big-time lottery companies are preparing to reassemble forces and begin operating again in Atlanta with a more business-like and "fool-proof" system, it was reported yesterday.

These reports followed a statement by E. E. Andrews, assistant solicitor general and special prosecutor in the grand jury lottery investigation just ended. Andrews defended meeting out of fines and suspended sentences of those pleading guilty.

Law enforcement officers expressed confidence the back of lottery activity had been broken. They did not believe that an organized movement to reorganize the ranks of the operators would be successful.

Andrews' Statement.
Prosecutor Andrews in his statement said: "The primary purpose of the grand jury investigation was to break up organized lottery racketeering." Andrews said: "When pleas of guilty were entered last Friday in the lottery cases, I then believed and I now believe that heavy fines and five-year suspended sentences was the best method of accomplishing this purpose."

"If the lottery has been crushed then the purpose has been accomplished. If it has not been crushed and any of these defendants assist in carrying on this unlawful enterprise, they can be confined in the chain gang with less expense and time than by trial. The deck has been cleared for the more important investigation into the graft charges against officers."

One of the major objectives of the proposed lottery organization, framed with unlimited secret financial backing and a war chest to provide against future legal contingencies, such as grand juries and "unreasonable law enforcement officers," will be to keep the racket "in the family."

Three Companies.
Negroes will be assigned one company and white sections of the city will be divided among two other companies—each one a complete unit.

A "safer" system of picking up bets and paying off winners is being projected to make operations as nearly immune from law enforcement officers as is possible, it was said.

As interest continued to center on what lottery operators might do in the future, Judge A. W. Callaway, of the first division of recorder's courts, yesterday was handing out fines and sentences to scores who faced him on charges of vagrancy, occupancy of dives and other lawless places in a concerted drive to mop up under-world characters.

Failure Predicted.
Law enforcement officials predicted failure for the new lottery regime.

Police Chief Hornsby greeted the news with an assertion: "They will take care of them when they begin."

J. A. McKibben, superintendent of detectives, said: "They won't launch any organized lottery activity in Atlanta with my knowledge or consent and I'll know about it if they start. We will keep the lottery out of Atlanta. The bug is dead and we propose to keep it that way."

Woodsman Killed When Tree Spits

MERIDIAN, Miss., Oct. 25.—(UP)—Joe Peavy, 67-year-old woodsman, of Meehan, was killed near here today when a tree he was felling split and tore open the length of his body.

The ragged split trunk acted as a lever and threw him into a bayou near by. R. T. Jones, Peavy's son-in-law, narrowly escaped death. With the aid of other woodchoppers in the Chunky river swamp, Jones pulled Peavy from the timber which impaled him and tried resuscitation.

But the victim's heart and lungs were exposed and he died. Never have your telephone number put on a visiting card unless it is the foldover type, our address, however, may appear in the lower right.

BYRON SHAW JAILED UNDER $5,000 BOND

Byron Shaw, big-time bootlegger and admitted lottery operator, was put in Fulton tower yesterday under $5,000 bond as the result of court order by Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy.

One of the 21 "big shot" lottery men who entered pleas of guilty in Fulton superior court Friday, Shaw must put up $5,000 bond before he is allowed to go back out to raise the $1,000 fine assessed him by the court.

Along with C. J. Hazelrig, fined $1,000, Shaw was given an extension of time in which to raise the money to pay his fine. He was arrested yesterday afternoon by a special investigator from the solicitor general's office.

Shaw was indicted by the Fulton county grand jury Thursday, in its climax to 60-day probe of the "numbers" game in Atlanta in which 22 other of the so-called "higher-ups" were indicted.

Shaw appeared before Judge Pomeroy Friday morning to enter his plea of guilty along with the other "big shot" in the lottery racket. When the court assessed a fine of $1,000 and added a suspended sentence totaling five years, he asked for time in which to raise the fine.

After a conference between the sheriff, the clerk of court and Special Prosecutor E. E. Andrews, Shaw was given 30 days to raise the money to pay his fine.

In court he gave his word of honor to "go straight" and to stay out of liquor and lottery rackets from now on.

Reportedly on a tip, the solicitor general's office learned Saturday that Shaw was planning to leave town. Judge Pomeroy at once issued an order for his arrest.

Shaw was picked up in front of the Decatur street police station yesterday by Special Investigator Baxter Coker, after County Policeman Burton Carroll reported to the solicitor general's office he had seen Shaw.

Shaw was arrested recently with several hundred gallons of whiskey by federal men. Bound over to the federal grand jury, he made a $500 bond and was at liberty at the time of his indictment by the Fulton grand jury for lottery activity.

Figuring in recent hijacking activities, Shaw appeared two weeks ago in recorder's court and charged Hugh Downs and Hoyt Lampkin with beating him up for refusing to pay Downs $50 to "play off me."

Downs and Lampkin, partners in a "prohibitive" combine, were bound over to the Fulton grand jury and indicted for assault with intent to murder.

EASTERN AIRLINES
DENIED ROUTE PLEA
Proposed Atlanta-Tampa-Miami Flights Barred.

Application of Eastern Airlines for a contract to operate an air-mail route from Atlanta to Miami, via Tallahassee and Tampa, was denied yesterday by Harlee Branch, second assistant postmaster general, according to Washington dispatches.

The law prohibits extensions of more than 200 miles, which is less than the distance from Miami to Jacksonville, present terminus of the line, according to Branch. He also declared that the Postoffice Department has reached the mileage limit on airmail routes permitted.

Eastern Airline's proposal was to route part of its Chicago-Atlanta-Jacksonville service to Tampa and Miami, eliminating Jacksonville. Officials of the line in Atlanta said they knew nothing of the proposed route, declaring that the proposal evidently was made from the New York office.

MISS SUE ELLIS NORRIS

E., well-known religious worker, who died of a heart attack Sunday at the residence, will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon from Spring Hill. Dr. Louie D. Newton will officiate with the funeral in Oakland cemetery.

YOUTH, 14, ADMITS HE KILLED BROTHER

Raleigh Boy Fired Because 19-Year-Old Kin 'Beat Me Up.'

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 25.—(AP) Johnny Williams, 14, tearfully confessed tonight, Chief of Police H. L. Pierce said, that he shot and killed his 19-year-old brother, because "he beat me up."

The brother, Joseph Lee Williams, died shortly after 9 p. m. from a wound of the abdomen, suffered at a combination residence, store and coal yard, operated by his parents.

"He beat me up often," Chief Pierce quoted Johnny. Pierce said the boy told him he and his brother had an argument when Johnny, returning from work, refused to stack up coal until he changed clothes.

"Joseph said for me to go right then, and I said I wouldn't," the chief quoted the youngster. "He grabbed me and struck me three or four times, but I ducked and ran."

Johnny returned and went to his room, Pierce said. Then, quoting the boy: "I told mother to tell Joseph not to come in my room. I told her to tell him I'd kill him if he did. But he wouldn't pay any attention to her. It was dark in there and I couldn't see. Joseph came in and I could tell he was almost on me. I fired and he hollered. I didn't say anything, though. Then I went to him and tried to tell him I didn't want to kill him."

An inquest will be held.

CROOKS IS GLAD Football Games Come Saturdays

Richard Crooks, internationally famous tenor, is shown as he ate breakfast yesterday morning in an Atlanta hotel. Mr. Crooks will appear in concert tonight at the Atlanta Woman's Club on Peachtree street.

By MOZELLE HORTON YOUNG.
Richard Crooks, Metropolitan tenor, in Atlanta for a concert tonight at the Atlanta Woman's Club, had a date with the press for 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning, but he didn't believe that writers got up that early, so he caught him just squeezing the last drop of juice out of his grapefruit.

He literally beamed over being back in Atlanta, city of many former triumphs for him, and expressed delight over being able to relax and lounge in peace. For the past two weeks ends his concerts have been in towns where the following day there was a football game.

"I sang in Nashville Friday night, and in the midst of my concert I looked out the window and saw hundreds of boys doing a 'snake dance' right outside the auditorium with a band blating full blast. And as for sleep in the hotel—the only sleep I got was during the time of the game. It killed me to miss the game, but I simply had to have some sleep."

But before anyone could ask him a question he began questioning us: "What happened to your roof at the auditorium—and what about the opera season? Will that keep the Met from coming in the spring? Everyone at the Met is talking about coming to Atlanta in the spring!"

Another new role for Crooks this season is that of Don Ottavio in Mozart's "Don Giovanni." And, of course, he will sing the leading tenor roles in "Manon," "Traviata," "Faust" and "Madam Butterfly." He will be at the Met 16 weeks during the season. His concert and radio engagements fill in practically all his available time.

Proud of Family.
Richard Crooks is proud of his family. His wife is a real helpmate. She is an accomplished pianist, and plays for him at home to practice. She also attends to the details of having his operatic costumes made, selects materials, colors, etc. He has one daughter, a year old, in school in Connecticut, and a handsome 12-year-old son, Richard Jr., in prep school at Princeton. Both have good voices, he says, but do not particularly like to sing.

Crooks' concert tonight is the opening of the artist series presented by the Atlanta Music Club, Mrs. Thad Morrison, president.

New Test of Lindy

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 25. (AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was revealed today as a co-operator in a scientific experiment which may produce motherless rats.

Dr. J. B. Nicholas, of Yale University, told the National Academy of Sciences that he has been using a modification of the Dr. Alexis Carrel-Lindbergh glass heart in which living tissues can be kept alive to study the growing rat embryo. Colonel Lindbergh co-operated with him in adapting the mechanism for this study.

Thus far, Dr. Nicholas told the academy, he has not completely eliminated mother rat in the production of offspring but he has successfully nourished and grown the embryo from the fifth to the ninth day of growth—the critical period of development.

HIGH COURT DENIES SCOTTSBORO PLEA

Justice Black fails to participate in decision on Patterson's appeal.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The supreme court, after twice saving him from death, refused today to interfere with a 75-year prison term imposed in 1936 upon Haywood Patterson, one of nine negroes who figured in the Scottsboro case.

In asking the court to review his conviction, Patterson contended it was impossible to obtain a fair trial in Morgan county, Alabama. He was found guilty of attacking Mrs. Victoria Price, a white woman, in a freight train near Scottsboro, Ala., in 1931.

Justice Hugo L. Black did not participate in the decision. There had been some talk among observers that, if he did participate, the decision might be challenged because of his former membership in the Ku Klux Klan.

In New York, Samuel Leibowitz, counsel for Patterson and the other negroes, received news of the court's action with the comment: "We're not licked yet. We have a definite plan for new action, and we will start working on it immediately." He did not divulge the plan.

For several years I have suffered with a bad set of bronchial tubes, and every time I took cold it seemed to settle in them and give me a bad cough. I would have fits of coughing and hawking which upset my digestion and often made me sick at my stomach. At night coughing spells would keep me awake for hours."

"I operate three vegetable stands at the Atlanta City Market, and this trouble caused me to lose a great deal of time from my business. The first dose of Menthon-Mulsion let me know that it was different from any other cough remedy I had ever tried. By the time I had used half a bottle of Menthon-Mulsion my cough was gone and I could breathe good and deep again. It sure was the right medicine for my case. ## SURVEYS LAGGING, DELAY INDICATED IN CROP CUT LAWS

Special Session Expected To Be Used Largely To Reach Agreement.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP) Delay in senate surveys of "dirt farmer" sentiment revived speculation today that administration crop control legislation may not be acted upon finally until the regular session of congress beginning in January.

Aides of Chairman Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, of the senate agriculture committee, said it appeared unlikely that roving subcommittees under Smith and Senator McGill, Democrat, Kansas, would return from the field in time to confer before the special session began November 15.

In that event, some observers believed it might require the entire six weeks of the session to compose differences, conduct public hearings and draft a bill.

Chairman Jones, Democrat, Texas, of the house agriculture committee prepared to begin hearings Wednesday with a view to placing the framework of a surplus control measure before the house as soon as it convenes. He said recently, however, he was not confident the bill would be enacted at the special session.

Other factors which may cause delay include:

1. Uncertainty over sources of finance. (Administration experts say the proposed farm program, in its first year, may cost about $200,000,000 more than the present soil conservation program. President Roosevelt has declared the added cost must be met by new taxes.)

2. Difficulties in meeting constitutional objections raised by the supreme court to federal crop control and accompanying processing taxes.
3. Conflict in the ranks of organized agriculture over proposed marketing quotas, and insistence from some that a new farm act be "carefully thought out."

Farm sentiment on these and other points has been canvassed in major crop regions by the senate subcommittees.

CITY TO GET $250 RENT AT ERLANGER

Council Tax Body Rejects Back Levy Compromise, Votes for Films.

Proposal to settle back taxes on the Erlanger theater was adversely voted yesterday by the tax committee of city council, which voted to accept an offer to rent the theater for $250 a week for a motion picture theater.

John Westmoreland, attorney for the estate of the late Baroness Reba Lowe Rosenkrantz, which owned the theater building, offered a settlement amounting to $9,000 on the back tax bill of $34,800.

To Continue Operation. Councilman Frank Wilson, chairman of the committee; Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, Alderman G. Dan Bridges and Councilman E. A. Minor voted for the city to continue operating the property, which it took over on a tax deed October 2.

Wilson said O. M. Pettit, of Clinton, Iowa, had offered to rent the theater for $250 a week over a period of years.

Atlanta is now collecting rents from the property. The Erlanger when it was taken over.

Westmoreland contends that the city has only a leaseholder's interest in the theater, since the tax deed was issued against it, as made out against Winecoff.

The committee's recommendation will be carried to council next Monday.

Veto Pamphlet Tax.

A proposed ordinance to tax distributors of pamphlets or literature $500 per year, when the distribution involves ringing doorbells or knocking on doors, was adversely voted against by the committee.

Lost Child Plus Ice Cream Sundae Wins $5 Tip Prize for R. C. Paris

Dacatur Girls' High 'Kids' Day' Brings $1 Award to Mrs. J. H. Roberts; Mrs. Leslie Kent Is Only Other Lucky Contestant for Week.

A lost child may mean many things to many people, but it meant $5 to R. C. Paris, manager of a downtown drug store.

When three-year-old Bobby Caldwell wandered into Mr. Paris' store the other day, the drugist thought quickly. He dialed the police—and then The Constitution.

Then, when a photographer arrived, Mr. Paris gave Bobby a large ice cream sundae. The result made a very pleasing photograph.

So Mr. Paris will get a five-dollar bill today for a good photo tip.

His picture idea was adjudged the best of last week's photo tips by the contest judge.

For two other persons, photo tips ideas proved valuable last week. Mrs. J. H. Roberts, of 128 Oakland street, N. E., knew that the students at Dacatur Girls' High school were observing "Kids' Day" for seniors.

So she called The Constitution, gave her idea, and she will receive $1.

Mrs. Leslie Kent, of 571 Techwood drive, who recently phoned in a photo-tip about the setting of Miss Doris Kent and Miss Doris Kent, will also receive a one-dollar check.

Dozens of folks thought of photo tips last week, but these were the only ones chosen to be used by the judges.

NEW 'MAURETANIA' Liner Now on Ways To Carry on Famous Name. LIVERPOOL, England, Oct. 25. Directors of Cunard White Star Limited will name the new 30,000-ton liner now on the ways at Birkenhead after the Mauretania, one of the world's most famous liners.

The "reincarnated Mauretania" will be launched July 28, 1938, the christening ceremony to be performed by Lady Bates, wife of Sir Percy E. Bates, G. B. E. She is expected to enter service in 1939.

The new vessel will be nearly 750 feet in length, approximately the same as her predecessor. Three classes of passenger accommodation will be provided—cabin, tourist and third class. An idea of the size of the vessel can be obtained from the fact that there will be 10 decks as compared to the seven on the old Mauretania.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Ruby Rosser; two sisters, Miss Mattie McConnell and Mrs. L. B. Jones; two brothers, J. C. McConnell, Riverdale, and M. V. McConnell.

HURRICANE HOUSE

By Bruce Henry

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE. Gil Ferris, a young engineer, inherits a rambling Spanish type house in Miami and a comfortable income when his brother Morton, a successful advertising man who seemingly had dislaid Gil, dies. The legacy is really unwelcome, and Gil is more concerned with seeing April Conway once again. He had loved April, and two years ago had proposed to her in New York, but she refused him, and, accompanied by her Aunt Morinda, followed Mort south. Gil phones April now, wanting to call on her, but she drops in on him at his newly-acquired residence. He sees at once that she is still suffering from the shock of Mort's death. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

April touched his hand. "I came here with Morinda because I wanted to be near Mort. He said he needed me, and I believe him." "I needed you, too," Gil reminded her, grimly, "and I wanted you to marry me—at once. Oh, I know you didn't say yes, but you said enough so I hoped that some day..."

The girl sighed and slid forward in the chair until she was poised on its edge. "Perhaps," she suggested, "I'd better go."

Conitron seized Gil. "I'm sorry," he blurted. "Let's start all over again. You talk, I'll keep my loose mouth shut."

April's nose crinkled, then she grew serious again as she went on. She had followed Mort to Miami on impulse, she explained. Her aunt had been urging her for so long to make the trip, and after Mort left, the conviction on her that he needed help. Help that only she could give. She hadn't intended staying long, just through the winter season, but her aunt had been ill and the months lengthened, and she stayed.

"I thought of you so often, Gil," she added, softly. "Really I did. There were times when I wished I had said 'yes' to you that night."

She paused, her face drawn. "But I didn't love you enough. It wouldn't have been fair."

"Thanks," he said, bitterly, remembering her lips had tasted. Like wild honey. No, like rare Burgundy. Not that it mattered, at this late date.

"Now I'm coming to the things that concern you," April was saying. "When I arrived here, it wasn't long before I discovered that Mort was involved in something that excited him, worried him, changed him. He was a totally different man from the one I knew in New York. He was inspired, somehow, and a dozen times he seemed on the verge of making a great admission. At first I was hurt that he did not give me his full confidence. Then, by and by, I realized he was waiting for something, a complete fulfillment of some hope, perhaps, before telling me."

Gil was listening intently. There was little doubt in his mind now, that April still loved Mort. Loved his memory with an almost tangible passion.

Oddly enough, he felt no great stab of pain. There was only a vast, dull emptiness inside him somewhere. He'd felt like this once before—the time he'd walked his first bridge trestle beam.

What were they sitting here talking like this for, anyway? Nothing she and Mort had done or said was going to change things. Mort was dead. So was she, to him. Anyway he'd been fooling himself, these past few days, thinking he could pick up the threads where they had been cut two years before.

"Are you listening to me, Gil?" April demanded. "This is important. Important to you!"

"I'm listening," he answered dully. "You were saying Mort seemed to be on the verge of announcing a great discovery. So what? Did he get around to it?"

"That's just it, Gil," April said tensely. "He never did."

"Why not?"

"Because he was murdered before he could!"

For a moment Gil sat staring at her dumbly. Then he blinked. "What was that last?"

"Mort was murdered, Gil," the girl repeated tensely. "Murdered by some one who wanted to learn whatever secret it was he had been keeping for so long!"

"But he died here, in this house, from fever," Gil protested. "I talked with the doctor myself. Mort had been hunting in the swamps and..."

"He died of fever, that's true, yet no one but I knew how he contracted it. He was kept prisoner in the Everglades, Gil, by someone, for nearly a week. They tortured him, they tried every trick they knew to make him talk. He escaped and managed to get to the Tamiami Trail and passing motorists brought him back here. He was in horrible condition. Most of his clothing was gone and mosquitoes had nearly eaten him alive. That was how he contracted the fever."

"Guff," Gil snorted. "The doctor said..."

"I nursed Mort up until the end," April cut in, quietly. "He was out of his head most of the time. When he was rational, he refused to talk about the experience. But I learned enough from his ravings to convince me that he was actually murdered! Not outright, but the things they did to him, Gil, were the direct cause of Mort's death."

Gil swallowed rapidly, his brain whirling. It was pretty obvious she was overwrought, yet she wasn't the sort of person who is given to wild imaginings. But this idiotic assumption that Mort had been murdered reeked of hysteria.

He forced his voice to calmness. "Don't people often say things in delirium that aren't true, April? He was a sick man. It probably affected his mind."

"The girl rose and came to the couch. She sat beside him. His body tensed. He didn't want her this close. Not now."

"It wasn't just what Mort said," she whispered jerkily. "There were other things. That horrible Boorama man, and the woman who phoned. They fit in, I'm convinced, had a secret, a great, important secret that other men wanted so badly they were willing to kill for it. Mort was murdered, Gil, and it's your duty and mine to find out who did it any way!"

She was actually shaking with intensity. Her breath beat rapidly on his cheek, and her eyes were like twin fires.

Gil said, cautiously, "Aren't you jumping to conclusions? You don't know definitely that Mort was kidnapped, or held prisoner, or whatever it was he raved about. Nor do you know that he died because of it. He himself said he had gotten lost while hunting in the glades. He went without food or shelter for a week. The doctor certified that death was due to fever, contracted when Mort was in a weakened condition..."

"Please, please! Don't be so stupidly sensible! I know what the doctor said, while Mort said, Gil, I'm as sure as I've ever been of anything that he was murdered!"

"Then the proper thing to do is ask the police to investigate."

"I can't do that. I have no proof, nothing to give them to go on," she cried.

Gil took her hand and shook his head. "Listen, I don't know how much you loved Mort, but I do know that losing him has probably upset you plenty. You've got to forget all these wild ideas, calm down and start living your own life. You can't let this... this notion of yours become an obsession."

Gil saw the slow flush as it crept up her breast and dyed her face.

Something welled in Gil's mind. Hope. False hope; He fought it down.

"You did love him, didn't you?" he demanded.

Continued Tomorrow.

UNCLE RAY'S Corner

CROSSING THE ATLANTIC. II—Second Day at Sea.

Today a name came from the captain. He invited me to "take tea" with him, and later sent a steward to guide me to his cabin.

The length of the "Queen Mary" is more than twice as great as the height of the Great Pyramid of Gizeh. The vessel is not so long as the Empire State building is tall, but it is made to stand on end, it would be higher than the Eiffel Tower of Paris.

The captain pointed out a windlass used to control one of the huge anchors. Each anchor weighs 16 tons.

Four giant propellers send the boat forward. Each propeller is 20 feet wide and weighs 35 tons—about as much as 15 full-grown elephants. They turn rapidly, and provide a speed of 30 knots per hour, sometimes more.

Thirty years ago a steamer was doing well if it made 15 or 18 knots per hour, but a number of ocean liners can now do better than 23 knots. The "Queen Mary" and the "Normandie" can go above 30 knots without much trouble.

The Normandie was the first of these superliners to be launched. It is a few feet longer than the "Queen Mary."

A sister ship to the "Queen Mary" is being built, and it will be at least as large, perhaps a bit larger. The name for the new steamer has not yet been made public, but I am told it probably will be called the "Queen Elizabeth."

(For travel section of your scrapbook.) If you want a free copy of the illustrated leaflet "Marvels of the Sky" send me a 3 1-2 stamped, return envelope in care of The Atlanta Constitution.

HOOVER MAY WIDEN SPLIT WITH LANDON IN SPEECH TONIGHT

Kansan's Grasp Over Party
Weakening on Proposal for Convention.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(UP)—The schism in the Republican high command in which former President Herbert Hoover and Alf M. Landon, titular head of the party, apparently are locked in a fight for the leadership, may widen tomorrow night when Hoover addresses the Massachusetts Republican Club in Boston.

Landon, 1936 presidential standard bearer, thus far has ignored Hoover's suggestion for an off-year Republican convention dedicated to defeat of the New Deal, and the convention is expected to be Hoover's topic. If it is, political observers here say it scarcely can be interpreted as healing balm to the Landon forces who are represented as feeling Hoover is further projecting himself into a spotlight rightfully belonging to Landon.

Hoover has won scores of converts to his proposal, including Landon's right-hand man, National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton, and the national committee is expected to vote ratification when it meets in Chicago next week to discuss it and kindred suggestions. Observers agree that if this occurs, without some change in Landon's tight-lipped position, Hoover will have established himself above Landon in the Republican hierarchy.

Landon had his chance to reassert his leadership last Tuesday night when he spoke to a "nation-wide mass meeting over the radio." Some observers say he muffed it because he ignored the convention proposal and confined his remarks to a denunciation of President Roosevelt as a modern Caesar greedy for power.

YOUNG "T. B." SEES
NATIONAL DEMAND

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Theodore Roosevelt Jr., spoke a word of caution today against using the proposed mid-term Republican national convention to promote presidential candidacies. During a visit to Republican headquarters here, Roosevelt told newspapermen there was a "demand all over the country" for the national conference next year, but added:

"It is not going to be held for the purpose of advancing the interests of any individual as a candidate for president in 1940."

BUILDING PROGRAM IS LAUNCHED HERE

completion of the central unit and left wing of the present permanent building would be sufficient to house all students and would provide proper lavatories also, Clift declared. This addition would also include a library and an administration suite of offices.

Members of the board of education and officials of the Fathers' Club are now studying ways and means of obtaining the needed money for the program, the business manager said.

All fathers of high school boys have been invited to join the club by Jud P. Wilhoit, president, and Roy Almond, chairman of the ways and means committee.

Obtaining federal aid is being considered as one method of financing the building program, as is sale of unused school and city property. Issuance of bonds is another method possible, and the fathers are also considering asking the city to contribute to the fund.

"If we succeed in putting this building program over, it will not be enough for all our needs in the school system," Clift said. "However, it would relieve our most pressing needs."

In the elementary school building program, the building committee, of which Mrs. Z. V. Peterson is chairman, has not announced which schools will be repaired or rebuilt.

for many of the reported indiscretions. "Their discipline is too strict and if there is some outbreak it is easy to understand the reason," a girl student explained.

"Our lives are very cramped here, and we resent it when we see the boys having a good time. But there are actually very few of the boys who have enough money to throw expensive parties such as Briant's book describes."

A. M. Frye, president of the Oxford Union, told of the restrictions which prevent a girl student from visiting a boy friend after 7:20 p. m., unless accompanied by a chaperone.

"That causes widespread amusement, especially among the Americans who come to Oxford," he said.

Briant's book, asserting that several Oxford girls have become "actually notorious," described in detail a "forgy" which he said he attended and where the girls were pined with potent and unfamiliar liquor.

One student, summing up the Oxford situation, said:

"The rules are so strict that I think almost every freshman, boy or girl, has become blind drunk at some time or other in order to show his or her freedom."

Marines, Too, 'Marched Through' And Gun Boats Guarded Georgia

Navy Day Celebration Recalls Period in 1836 When 'Leathernecks' Were Called Out To Protect State From Creek Indians.

By RALPH M'GILL.
Marines marching through Georgia?

Gunboats on the Chattahoochee? That bit of Georgia history is not so well known, even to the historians. But once the marines did make a forced march from Augusta to Columbus. And once they worked in Georgia and in conjunction with a fleet of small gunboats on the Chattahoochee.

It is appropriate that Georgia celebrate Navy Day tomorrow. And it is one of the unique features of Georgia's history that once the navy and marine corps operated not along the coast but from an inland city.

It was in 1836. The Seminoles were at war in Florida. The Creek Indians, who also were to be moved to the west, went on the war path in Georgia and Alabama. The Creeks were tough fighters as were the Seminoles. And the army was in hard pressed, "Old Hickory" fumed.

Marines in Action.
He ordered out the marines. The marines, oldest military organization in America, went into action. Colonel Commandant Archibald Henderson, more than 50 years old and a marine officer for some 30 years, volunteered to take command.

He mobilized over half the strength of his corps. There were two contingents. They came by ship to Charleston.

The then longest railroad in the world was the one running from Charleston to Augusta. The marines took that and then followed 14 days of marching over land to Columbus, Ga. It was 224 miles.

The marines left Georgia and since that time the famous corps has never had occasion to defend the state.

Georgia has a real reason to celebrate Navy Day.

SCHOOL MENACES HEALTH, IS CLAIM

Housing Conditions Deplorable at Henry Grady High, Dr. Turner Says.

By DR. JOHN W. TURNER.

The 2,500 boys of the Atlanta Henry Grady High school are housed and taught under conditions that are not only inadequate but are also a distinct menace to their health and perver-

These boys go from good homes to portable wooden buildings, poorly ventilated and poorly heated. In one corner a stove bakes the boys immediately around it while the attention of those in the outer frigid zones of the room is devoted to attempts to keep not comfortably but tolerably warm.

Many of the buildings which are fragile frame structures, with inadequate provision for escape in case of fire, have large cracks in their walls and enormous openings in the beaver board ceilings through which most of the heat escapes. Such conditions of housing should not be tolerated by the citizenry of Atlanta.

Heating Not Universal.

Crowded closely into a plant which is too small, these boys are overheated in one portion and chilled in another. Their resistance to common colds, sinus infections, pneumonia and other respiratory diseases, as well as to general diseases, is lowered; their susceptibility is increased. Such close crowding offers ideal opportunities for the spread of such diseases through coughing and droplet infection. It is not surprising that the incidence of such diseases of the respiratory tract is high among our high school boys. That deaths from pneumonia are frequent.

It is deplorable that Atlanta must accept such a high school plant. It is an unfavorable comment upon the attitude of our citizenry that we are content and silent in such circumstances.

We allow the continuance through years of a physical high school plant that constitutes a menace to the health and lives of our boys. Perhaps we must be told that such loss of time from school, keeping the boy back and necessitating the repetition of courses of study, is an enormous economic loss. Perhaps we must think in dollars.

Toilet facilities are inadequate. Accommodations in this essential department afford only one-third of the number of units accepted as standard for public buildings and of these, approximately one-fifth must be locked during the colder days of the winter season as they are not heated.

Our schools have instituted and become nationally known for their health crusade and campaign in health education conducted during the grammar and junior high school years. This good work is nullified by the conditions of our high school.

Rules Are Flouted.

Here the teaching of health rules and regulations is abandoned, and the rules themselves are broken and flouted. This has its unfavorable reaction not only upon the health of our boys but upon their character as well. Discipline cannot be easily maintained under such conditions.

Carelessness in manner, speech, dress, in the rules of sanitation, and in the rules of common courtesy and correct conduct are encouraged and nurtured by such unhealthful and insanitary conditions as exist at the Henry Grady High school.

AIR PIRACY CRISIS AROUSES EUROPE

Bombing of 2 French Ships, One in Harbor, Renews Peace Threat.

PARIS, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Aerial "piracy" confronted Europe with a new Mediterranean crisis tonight. One French vessel was bombed and sunk and another bombed and burned by planes marked with a black Maltese cross. Three planes shot down while raiding Barcelona were Italian, the Spanish government declared.

The Spanish government embassy here said the black cross was the mark of the Spanish insurgent air force. Insurgent representatives said they could not describe the standard markings of their planes.

A cross-marked air raider bombed and set fire to a French submarine chaser today just outside the port of Forneles, on the island of Minorca off the eastern coast of Spain, less than 48 hours after a similarly marked seaplane had sunk the French freighter Oued Mellah in the northern Mediterranean.

The French government ordered its heavy destroyer Milan, which had just arrived at Toulon with 11 survivors of the Oued Mellah, to speed immediately to Forneles.

GUGGENHEIM HEIRSS TO FILE DIVORCE SUIT

The suit will be uncontested, Swanson said. She is expected to receive her decree at a brief district court hearing behind closed doors in the afternoon.

Pictures Show Deplorable School Quarters

Condemning housing conditions at Tech High and Boys' High schools as unsanitary, Dr. John W. Turner, physician, is shown looking at a huge crack in the wall of one of the wooden portables. Wintry winds can enter this school room easily. Fathers of students are campaigning to obtain a new permanent addition to the schools.

Rough-Riding Cop Arrests Fugitive

"That policeman is the motorcycle ridest man I ever saw," Chester Powell, 26, fugitive from the Ben Hill convict camp, declared as he rested yesterday at the city jail after being caught in a chase in the Woodward avenue section.

Motorcycle Policeman Harry McWilliams was the man referred to by the prisoner. McWilliams was responsible for Powell's capture.

En route to work yesterday, McWilliams saw detectives chasing Powell and joined them on his motorcycle, riding over fields and ditches and finally firing a few shots. Thrown from his mount when the going got too rough, the policeman continued his pursuit on foot, catching the fugitive when they both ran into a barbed wire fence.

FEARS EXPRESSED OVER PEACE PARLEY

Failure of 3 Big Powers To Agree on Far East Is Chief Factor.

GENEVA, Oct. 25.—(UP)—Reports from world capitals reaching League of Nations headquarters tonight caused diplomats to doubt whether the Brussels conference of nine-power treaty signatories, scheduled to convene Saturday, will be able to restore peace in the far east.

The three factors most responsible for the pessimism in the League capital were:

1. An impression that Japan, having occupied nearly all of China north of the Yellow river, may be determined to carry on and completely smash the power of the Nanking government.

2. The reluctance of Great Britain, France and the United States to agree to any plan of "putting the pressure" on Japan.

3. The preoccupation of Britain and France over the grave international situation in the Mediterranean along their empire routes.

It was indicated tonight that 18 of the 19 world powers who are either signatories or adherents of the nine-power treaty signed in Washington on February 6, 1922, with the intention of guaranteeing China's territorial integrity will meet in Brussels Saturday and immediately invite Russia and Germany to send delegates.

The conference will then recess until Tuesday to give the German and Russian delegates time to arrive.

54 SEIZED IN RAIDS FINED BY RECORDER

Three Bound Over to Grand Jury; 21 Cases Are Dismissed.

Detectives obtained recorder's court convictions yesterday of 54 persons arrested in the city-wide vice clean-up over the week end. Nine others forfeited bond or collateral and 50 cases were checked.

Unsavory establishments throughout the city were objects of raids from detective squads over the week end as they answered with action an appeal from Formwalt section citizens that their sector be made a decent place in which to live. The clean-up was spread Sunday over the entire city and 140 persons were arrested.

54 Fined.

Of those persons tried as being occupants of a dive or operating a dive, 54 were fined from $5 to $10 each; three were bound over for the grand jury and 21 were dismissed.

The cases were tried before Recorder A. W. Callaway. Largest number of arrests were made by Detectives Dock Sims, T. B. Clarke and S. C. Banks, who arrested 102.

100 Per Cent.

Lieutenant M. B. Petty and Policeman U. G. Oakes arrested 15 in the Formwalt sector and obtained 15 convictions. Patrolmen R. L. Burden and F. O. Bishop arrested 17 and got 17 convictions.

All 10 persons arrested at 318 Whitehall street were dismissed by Judge Callaway because of lack of evidence to establish the place as a "dive."

Does Your Cough Embarrass You?

Do people shrug their shoulders and turn away their faces when you cough? Do they stop this embarrassment and end your worry over that awful cough by getting relief offered by Creomulsion, the tonic that thousands of people, who really know their drugs, use in their families.

In Creomulsion, effective doses of Beechwood Creosote are blended, by a special process, with six other real cough and cold remedies which aid nature to soothe and heal inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, do not be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not satisfied with the results obtained from the very first bottle. Ask your druggist for Creomulsion.

Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product, and the relief that you want. (Adv.)

NEW DEAL MAY GAIN SENATOR ON PACIFIC AS STEIWER QUILTS

Willis Mahoney, Who Ran McNary Close Race, Expected to Seek Post.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The announced determination of Senator Frederick Steiwer, Republican of Oregon, to seek re-election next year means in all probability that the New Deal will pick up another member of the upper chamber from the Pacific coast region in the coming congressional contest.

Senator Steiwer's announcement, while coming as a surprise to the general public, was not altogether unexpected by those familiar with the current trend of political developments in Oregon. Since the advent of the New Deal the state has become more and more Democratic, and observers of affairs there have long realized that the senator faced the fight of his career if he decided to seek another term.

What has happened in Oregon, formerly a normal Republican state, is best illustrated by the tremendous majorities rolled up by the Democrats in recent years. President Roosevelt carried it by 77,000 in 1932, only to increase his majority by nearly double this amount last year. In the three previous presidential years the state had gone Republican by majorities ranging from 75,000 to 96,000.

It is significant also to point out that Senator Charles L. McNary, senior member from Oregon and the Republican leader in the senate, was only able to skin through by a bare margin of 7,000 last year, although he had a record of supporting much of the New Deal legislative program and carried with him the prestige of serving as minority leader. In times past his normal majority would run 10 times that figure.

Senator McNary's opponent in the 1936 election was Willis Mahoney, Democrat, of Klamath Falls, who because of the close race he ran is expected to be a candidate for the Steiwer seat.

AID TO RELIEF OF PSORIASIS SYMPTOMS

The itching and irritation of psoriasis is readily relieved by Resinol Ointment, an old formula containing ingredients well known to physicians for their effectiveness.

To get best results, wash off the scales with a pure, mild soap. Resinol Soap is gently medicated and free from excess alkali. Use it with warm water, then rinse and pat dry. Spread Resinol Ointment evenly over the surface, letting it remain for several hours during the day and over night. Note how quickly its oily base enables the Resinol medication to soothe the angry skin.

Even when the rash begins to fade, do not stop using Resinol too soon. The eruptions of psoriasis have a tendency to recur. Therefore, continue Resinol application as long as there is any trace of irritation.

'Deadly' Drug Found Life-Saver For Treatment of Meningitis

Sensational New Remedy, Originating in Germany, Is Credited With Aiding 11 Victims in Battle Against Medical 'Death Sentence.'

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Editor. CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—A medical milestone, the 100 per cent recovery of 11 persons with streptococcus meningitis, who took the sensational new remedy, sulfanilamide, was reported to the American College of Surgeons today.

Streptococcus meningitis has been one of the "death sentence" diseases. It is the most deadly form of meningitis. The 11 cases, moreover, were all complicated with mastoiditis.

"They are," said a spokesman for the College of Surgeons, "the kind of cases of which we say 'there is no hope'."

Sulfanilamide is the remedy made from a red dye discovered in Germany and used in a mixture which recently has been causing deaths over a large part of the United States. The fatal combination is an "elixir" in which the American Medical Association has blamed the deaths on other drugs than sulfanilamide.

Other Side Given. Today's report to the College of Surgeons gives the other side of the picture of this new medicine, explaining why physicians all over the United States have been eager to test it.

The 11 meningitis victims were treated at Rush Medical College, Chicago. The medical men there, the surgeons were informed, were surprised at the curative powers of sulfanilamide. They had expected no such result as the complete cure of the 11 cases. Ten of these had mastoid operations in addition to the meningitis.

The Rush authorities also reported that their sulfanilamide results were "in line with" those of experiments in other institutions with this remedy for meningitis.

Another side of the dramatic effects of sulfanilamide was reported today at a clinic of the Chicago Lying-In hospital. It apparently is not yet a safe drug for pregnant women. Experiments on animals led the hospitals to state that "it appeared the use of this drug was open to criticism if used in the pregnant woman not only from the standpoint of its toxic effect on the mother but also on the fetus."

Cancer Study Told.

A theory that the laws of heredity contain the missing clue to the cause of cancer was proposed by the English physician, J. P. Lockhart-Mummery, fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons, of London.

He said that although there is Hana's tavern was looted by four men at Jay, N. Y. Supplementing this testimony, Francis McLaughlin, of Washington, D. C., testified he left Montague at his Syracuse home "about midnight" the night of the robbery.

Monty Ran Run. In the midst of this testimony the state obtained through cross-examination of McLaughlin an admission that Montague "ran liquor" during prohibition.

McLaughlin, a newspaper circulation supervisor, said on direct examination that Roger Norton and William Carleton, both of whom served prison sentences for robbing the Hana place, and Montague and he drove to the roadhouse in late July, 1930, "to see if the place would be a good drop for liquor."

On cross-examination, Prosecutor McDonald asked: "You admit, then, that you all had liquor dealings?"

"That's right," McLaughlin replied.

The last time Mrs. Moore saw her son until he returned from Hollywood last summer, she said, was on August 5, the morning after the crime.

"He told me he was going to play golf, baseball, kissed me goodbye and went out," she testified. "That's the last I saw of him."

The following Sunday, a police detective and a state trooper came to our house. The detective asked me if Laverne was home. I told him 'No.' Then the trooper asked: 'He isn't home?' I repeated, 'No,' and asked them to search the house. Then the trooper said 'We'll take your word for it Mrs. Moore.'

LIBERTY DOUBTED

All 'Valuable' Nickels Reported Out of Circulation. NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Leading numismatists were plainly skeptical today about news reports that Carroll Wade, of Mexico, Texas, had a genuine 1913 Liberty head nickel for which he had turned down an offer of $1,000.

William Clark, assistant curator of the museum of the Numismatic Society of America, said: "There were in 1913 a total of six Liberty head nickels struck without authority, by treasury employees."

"None of these six coins is in general circulation. I do not believe it is possible for another bona fide 1913 Liberty head nickel to be in existence."

2 MISS INJURY AS CAR OVERTURNS 10 TIMES

Two motorists escaped serious injury yesterday when the auto in which they were riding turned over 10 times when it failed to make a curve at the Seaboard underpass on Clairmont road. DeKalb county police said they were fleeing a policeman.

The men, listed as Earl Lunsford, 37, of Decatur, and James Etheridge, of Pearisburg, were booked on charges of speeding and drunken driving and held under $600 bond.

AGENTS SPEED UP FATAL DRUG HUNT

sult of taking elixir sulfanilamide we cannot say. A number of factors might have combined in causing the deaths."

Dr. T. F. Sellers, of the State Department of Public Health, said yesterday he had received one official and four unofficial reports of deaths in Georgia from the drug. He said the official report came from Swainsboro. The other deaths in Ware county, Lamar county and Dahlonega came from the federal food and drug inspector, he said.

No official investigation of the reported deaths have been made, McManus said. "We are having to concentrate on stopping use of the compound before any more are killed," he added.

Dr. J. E. Bush, chief drug inspector for the state, confirmed the death of Leonard Doss, negro, of Barnesville. He said he had received no other official reports.

Federal officials continued to push their efforts to recover the remaining outstanding prescriptions of the elixir in the state. Practically all of the shipments have been recovered, but approximately 10 prescriptions still remain, McManus said.

Rural Areas Searched. The search was concentrated mainly in the rural sections of the state, as undetermined quantities of the drug have been distributed to country physicians as samples. McManus pointed out that the search is made more difficult because many physicians do not make a record of the names of their patients.

A nation-wide effort to recover more than 700 bottles of sulfanilamide was being continued yesterday, with the American Medical Association, offices in Chicago, directing the search. Approximately 40 deaths throughout the nation have been blamed on the elixir.

McManus said last night one of his agents had been sent to Waycross to investigate the reported cases there.

Solution Blamed in Deaths. Associated Press dispatches from Chicago last night said the American Medical Association, through Dr. Morris Fishbein, announced it had confirmed that the solution was responsible for five additional deaths at Madisonville, Texas; Carey, Miss.; Copley, Ohio; Clayton, Ala., and St. Louis, Mo.

Chief J. O. Clarke, of the central states division of the United States Food and Drug Administration, said federal agents made rapid progress over the week end, seizing quantities of the elixir from drug store shelves, doctors' offices and private homes.

"We have accounted now for all the principal shipment of 700 bottles, mostly pint size," he said late yesterday. "We are going after the few prescriptions and salesmen's samples that are still out and will have them within 12 hours."

DEATH TOLL PUT AT 46; DOCTORS ISSUE WARNING. CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A lethal elixir of sulfanilamide—medical "Frankenstein," destroying where it was to heal—today took its 46th victim and drew from the powerful American College of Surgeons a sharp warning to physicians against administration of "unknown" drugs.

Deaths were centered in nine southern and midwestern states but from New York to San Francisco state and federal agents scanned the shelves of drug stores and doctors' offices for last bottles of the death-dealing mixture which may yet pass into the hands of uninformed physicians and from them to innocent victims.

The list by states exclusive of Georgia, follows: Alabama 5, Illinois 7, Mississippi 14, Missouri 1, Oklahoma 9, Ohio 1, Tennessee 1 and Texas 4.

Chimes To Peal Wedding March In Distant City for Henry Young

By Sally Forth.

WHEN Lida Read Voigt becomes the bride of Henry Young this evening at St. Paul's Episcopal church in Chattanooga, wedding chimes will peal in distant Orange, Va., in compliment to the young couple. The groom-elect is a graduate of Woodbury Forest school in the Virginia city and is held in such high esteem by his alma mater that officials of the school have made plans to have the school chimes play the wedding march at the time of the ceremony as a compliment to the young Atlantan.

The wedding this evening will assemble a fashionable gathering of Atlanta and Chattanooga society, first at the church for the marriage and later at the Chattanooga Golf and Country Club, where the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Read Voigt, will entertain for their daughter and Henry.

Among the Atlantans who will motor to the Tennessee city today for the nuptials will be Mr. and Mrs. H. Lane Young, parents of the groom-elect; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Black, Mrs. Robert Pringle, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hawkins, Dan Sage, Alex Haynes, Lorenzo Massengale and James Frazer. The latter's wife, the former Rebecca Young, has been in Chattanooga for the past week attending the series of parties that has honored Lida Read prior to her marriage. Rebecca will be among the bridesmaids.

Frances Young, another sister of the groom-elect, is a member of the current Debutante Club, but is combining her social activities with school. She returned yesterday from Hollins College, where she is a student, and left with her parents for the ceremony. She returns tomorrow and will remain here for the rest of the week in order that she may be present to make her bow with the other debts at the Halloween ball Saturday at the Piedmont Driving Club.

Mr. Forrester is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John W. Forrester, of Leesburg. He is now residing in Tifton and is a prominent member of the bar. He attended the University of Georgia and is a member of the Pi-Kappa Alpha social fraternity.

The bride and groom left for a motor trip through Florida. They will reside at Tifton, 309 West 12th street.

DID YOU KNOW that a large portion of this new shop is devoted to direct imports, personally selected by our Miss Catherine Rice on her recent trip abroad? Like this jewel of a bag—black antelope, with an amazing frame that opens 'way back there, giving loads of entry-room. 12.50

DID YOU KNOW that we make an extra-specialty of exclusive Aris of Paris gloves? These, for instance, with bulky, lustrous embroidery all down the back. Black antelope. 6.50

DID YOU KNOW that Nat Lewis bags are another typical find in this treasure place? This one, lovely, in capital letters. A baguette frame of flashing garb. Or jet. And an intriguing "skirt"—loose flaps of the black antelope over a silk body. 20.00

DID YOU KNOW that here, too, are gloves by Couturier Molyneux? These, all handmade, with not one bit of the usual back-stitching. Delicious colors—Capri Olive, Chrysanthemum, Ball Brown, black. 7.50

MY DAY

By Eleanor Roosevelt

ITHACA, N. Y., Sunday.—Mrs. Morgenthau and I reached Elmira at 7:30 on Saturday morning and Miss Rose drove us over to her home at Cornell University. In spite of the pouring rain, we enjoyed the drive and the beautiful autumn colors which have not yet completely faded.

Yesterday we had quite a unique experience, we actually had an hour and a half in which we had no engagements. In farm and home week we are busy every minute. The schedule yesterday was comparatively light.

From 10 to 12 the Student Council, which had invited me to come up, held a meeting open to all the girls in the different colleges of the university. At this meeting we talked of the problems facing the seniors who are leaving college to begin a new phase of their lives. We also discussed what the girl entering college has a right to expect from her four years in preparation for the step which the seniors are facing.

To me, the most interesting part of the meeting was the questions asked by the girls, but in such a big group I think it is difficult to get a free interchange of ideas and open discussion. I hope that when they have their next meeting, there may be an opportunity for smaller groups to meet with the person invited to speak.

This meeting was followed by a buffet luncheon. Dr. and Mrs. Miller from Keuka College came over to see me. We went to tea with Dr. and Mrs. Day and attended a faculty dinner in the evening. In the room I occupy here quite often, there are two pictures of Miss Martha Van Rensselaer. One does not need these reminders of her, however, for one cannot be in her house and in the college of home economics without feeling her spirit. It is a very real immortality which leaves such a stamp of personality. Anyone who once knew Miss Rensselaer cannot return to the place where she worked and which she did so much to create, without actually feeling her presence.

On Sunday morning there was a most interesting little group gathered for breakfast. We had an opportunity to hear Dean Ladd give some of his impressions gained from a trip which covered much of the west and south and brought together people interested in agriculture from practically all of our states.

Soon we are off to make our train in Syracuse. Tomorrow morning Mrs. Morgenthau hopes to wake up in Washington and I hope to find myself in Boston.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write to Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: Our problem isn't financial and so I feel that there should be some satisfactory solution of it if only I could hit upon it. When my fiancé's father died he asked his son to take good care of his mother as long as she lived and my fiancé feels that he has to live with her to take care of her. He wants us to be married and move in, while I am holding out for a home of our own. The mother and I are good friends and she is gracious about having me come into her home but down deep I know she feels just as I do; that all would be better off if we lived separately. She has dropped several little things that make me know she is afraid of the experiment. What about my having a heart-to-heart with her, telling her how I feel and giving her the opportunity to tell me if she agrees?

MARGARET T.

Answer: I think the heart-to-heart would be a most sensible procedure and, whatever conclusion the two of you arrive at, the mere fact that you have vented the situation ever in frank and friendly fashion will cement the bond between you. Your fiancé's sentiment about leaving his mother does his heart credit—but when anybody permits sentiment to take precedence over common sense there's sorrow in the offing. Common sense decrees that two women shouldn't try to share one home and one man, unless financial conditions make it absolutely necessary.

It is probably true that every such threesome starts out with the expectation of having a smooth and satisfactory relationship. But nine times out of ten the experiment doesn't pan out because the women are possessive and jealous and the man is on pins and needles lest he offend one or the other. The woman who has been housekeeper and general director of the household finds it impossible to relinquish her grasp on son and house. The bride who has had the fiancé to herself during engagement days resents the division of his time, interest and show of affection, none of which makes for peace and concord.

You see, a young pair have their hands pretty full in getting adjusted to one another during the first years of marriage. Even when they are left to themselves there are misunderstandings to be cleared up, hurt feelings to be smoothed, rough edges of disposition to be filed down. Now throw in a real problem as to which of the women shall take the keys, give the orders and what privileges the assistant should have without trespassing upon the rights of the housekeeper; or throw in the problem of dual control of the man by his wife and mother and what have you?

Generally you have a couple of unhappy, fearful women with a dissatisfied, harried man between them, not conducive to marital felicity! The first time a misunderstanding arises between mother and son's wife and son tells wife to pay no attention to mother. Remembering that she is old and set in her ways, wife blows up a storm of anger. The first time husband and wife have a disagreement and mother shows her natural sympathy with son's side of the question the wife feels that she is being shoved out of her warm place and so on ad infinitum.

Yes, there are some self-contained, self-controlled women who can live together as mother and daughter-in-law, share the roof and the man without having any friction but they are as rare as hen's teeth. The vast majority of those who try it are frank to say it's no go.

Mercolized Wax Cream Sloughs Off Outer Skin Reveals Hidden Beauty
An easy and sensible way to make your skin smooth, soft and young-looking is to use Mercolized Wax regularly. This lovely white cream acts on a principle of desquamation which causes the outer skin to slough off in minute, flaky particles. This invisible process gradually uncovers the fresh-looking under-skin, which appears clear and beautiful.

Mercolized Wax has proven itself through the years. For over a quarter of a century, it has been the Face Cream of a century. It has been the Face Cream of the world. Start at once to bring out the hidden beauty of your skin with Mercolized Wax.

YOU'RE LUCKY IF YOU'RE NERVOUS

YOU CAN TURN YOUR "NERVES" INTO CHARM

Stop reproaching yourself. Joan. Your jitters, your miserable "nerves," are really lucky in disguise. For "nerves" are a sign you're more alert, more responsive and high spirited than ordinary people. You have only to straighten out the kinks that have twisted these delightful qualities into irritability, headaches, indigestion, and you'll become the radiant, magnetic person you were meant to be.

First, stop trying to tie yourself to a deadly routine. If the laundry comes late or if a visitor upsets your plans for dinner you're ready to scream.

Break the chains. Placid little Maisie may live on a treadmill happily, but a sensitive, high-strung nature like yours can't do it. Play hooky when your nerves are on edge. Go to a show, ramble idly with a friend, see what a lovely world it is.

Next, don't pour your emotional energies into grooves too small for them. You live too softly shirled in front. You'll adore this dress because it does such nice things to your figure and gives you a fragile, feminine silhouette. Make it yourself with the help of pattern No. 1416-B. You need not be an expert with your needle. The pattern includes a complete step-by-step chart that tells you exactly what to do.

Make this dress of soft black satin or velvet for dressy wear and for more casual wear of one of the new thin wools.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1416-B is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Corresponding bust measurements 30, 32, 34, 36 and 38. Size 14 (32) requires 4-3 yards of 35 or 39-inch material or 5-8 yards of 54-inch.

Send fifteen cents for the Barbara Bell Fall and Winter Pattern Book. Make yourself attractive, practical and becoming clothes selecting designs from the Barbara Bell well-planned, easy-to-make patterns.

Price of pattern is 15 cents. Do not send stamps. Mail orders to Barbara Bell Pattern Dept., The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Beta Sigma Phi.

The Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was entertained at a tea Saturday by Miss Martha Crowe, director of the chapter, at her home on Virginia avenue. Mrs. W. R. Crowe, mother of the hostess, poured tea.

Present were Doris Bart, Mary Beta Browder, Janie Fornara, Elizabeth Frasier, Kathryn Harsh, Anne Hayes, Dorothy Hayes, Elizabeth Mott, Dorothy Moor, Anne Porreca, Christine Quillian, Ruth Shippey, Nettie Mae Austin, Florence Stevenson, Marjorie Ponder and Annette Gibson.

Kelley-Fowler.

Of interest to a host of friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Mary Gidonia Kelley to L. Leon Fowler at a ceremony taking place October 16.

The Bowery, a street in New York city, was originally called Bowerie from Great Bowerie, the farm belonging to Peter Stuyvesant.

Gain Reputation With This

Let color make your table gay! This eight-inch crocheted square is in two colors (you can use just one if you prefer) and although rich in design is simple enough for a beginner to learn. If it's a handsome cloth or spread you want, just repeat this medallion a number of times in string and then join together (see how a new pattern is formed as it's joined). Use finer cotton for a smart scarf or pillow.

These make top-notch Xmas gifts! In pattern 5966 you will find instructions for making the square shown—an illustration of it and of the stitches used; material requirements; a photograph of the square.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Household Arts Dept., The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

Pleasant Homes

By ELIZABETH McRAE BOYKIN.

"After a long hunt," writes R. E. K., "I found just the house I wanted, and now we're on the verge of moving in. In the setting down process, I'm planning on making some changes in our furnishings and would appreciate some suggestions. The place has been painted all in white throughout and looks very fresh for our old things. I'm beginning my changes with the living room and hope to accomplish some brightening up by means of slip covers, new curtains and a few additions.

"Here is the situation: we will buy a new sofa, a new chair and two new tables, not small low ones but good-sized lamp and book tables. I will make new slip covers for the old easy chairs and will add new draperies. The old rug we'll keep. It's plain blue broadloom in a nice delft shade. Then old furniture is heterogeneous, mostly mahogany and some is 18th century. I'd be grateful for any suggestions for these changes. The room will get hard wear so the furniture coverings at least must be sturdy."

Splashed With Scarlet.
Why not get chintz for the draperies—white preferably splashed with brilliant pattern in scarlet. Then have two of your easy chairs in plain red covering preferably leather, and a third in an all-over fabric in blues and reds. The sofa might be interesting in one of those new striped materials that are so smart now. You can select a material that can stand hard usage.

Fresh white shades for your lamps, picture frames in bamboo and accessories in pewter would give the room a pleasant finish. The new tables might be mahogany drum top style—that has a substantial feeling and would help co-ordinate the things you already have.

Your Figure, Madam

By IDA JEAN KAIN.

SPORTS BUILD BEAUTY.

If you are looking for a pleasant way of keeping in trim, play tennis, fence or swim. These three sports head the list in the development of beautiful figures. Engage in any one of them several times a week and you are practically assured of streamlined normal weight.

As a rule, swimmers comprise a group of mermaids whose figures are the envy of the rest of the feminine sports world. Annette Kellerman, who first brought the beauty value of swimming to public attention, was as streamlined as the Kompa sisters, or Eleanor Holm Jarrett. These are just a few examples, for swimming has given as many hostages to fame as the Ziegfeld Follies.

You do not, however, have to be in championship form to benefit from this exercise. It so happens that the Kompa and Eleanor Holm Jarrett specialize in the backstroke. Even though you attain only mediocre skill with this stroke, you may be sure that this style of swimming improves the bust measurement and makes beautiful arms and shoulders.

Any style of swimming will improve your figure. This super-slimming medium seems to allot to each group of muscles just the amount of exercise they need, and there is no strain connected with it. Besides giving you slim, lovely lines, it uses a high rate of calories. The 130-pound girl who swims for an hour burns up around 400 calories.

Just now fencing bids to become a favorite feminine recreation. This sport is to be classed as reducing. You can lose as much as five pounds in an hour's work with the foils, and at the same time you develop speed, precision and balance—the essentials of poise and grace. Fencing uses 3.6 calories per pound per hour, according to Dr. Mary Swartz Rose, of Columbia University.

Tennis, the most strenuous of this trio of activities, is the favorite exercise of the stars. Almost every star plays a better than fair game, and plays several times a week. Among the outstandingly beautiful tennis stars are Helen Wills Moody and Kay Stammers, and in the film colony,

Joan Crawford and Carole Lombard.

There are other sports which rank high in the making of lovely figures. Rowing effectively uses the muscles of the arms, chest, back and abdomen. Bicycling is excellent for the lower legs, thighs and tummy muscles. Hiking, with a little climbing thrown in, gets all the muscles.

Whatever sport you choose for regular exercise, play regularly and do not ruin its good effects by overeating. You can't be active in any sports and be overweight—but if you get too heavy you will have to give up your activity.

THE THROWBACK IN CATTLE BREEDING.

A breeder of registered Guernsey cattle, referring to a recent article in this column in which the unreality of the fiction of the birth of a black child to white or apparently white parents was pointed out, offers this interesting comment:

Regarding the throwback in the color line, we have a similar difficulty to contend with. One of the two French breeds of cattle that went onto the Islands of Jersey and Guernsey nearly 4,000 years ago had black noses. Nearly all Jerseys now have black noses. Guernsey cattle nearly all have light or buff noses. But occasionally Jerseys have buff noses and Guernseys have black noses. Black noses are not fashionable in Guernseys; breeders seldom use a black-nosed bull or a black-nosed cow. But try as we have for generations to eliminate the black noses, they still appear from buff-nosed parents. It seems to me they appear in the Mendelian ratio as with sweet peas; according to the Mendel's law if you cross red and white peas the progeny will all be white. Why doesn't Mendel's law hold in the crossing of negro and white persons? If a pure white and a pure negro mate, according to the Mendelian theory of inheritance the children should be in like ratio—one pure white, two mulattoes and one pure black. Why doesn't Mendel's law hold?

Mendel's attempt to explain inheritance is not a law, but a theory. Like the bucolic beholder of the giraffe, I am skeptical of reports of the occurrence of "throwbacks" such as the colored child born to apparently white parents, though not merely because I have never met anyone who has seen such a case. All the reports or yarns or legends are rather second or third hand or folklore—and you know it is human nature to embellish a story when you repeat it. My incredulity in reference to the human "throwback" rests on the same foundation as my unbelief in human rabies and in gout. Accept it or reject it, as you prefer. You know as much as I do about it.

Castle's "Genetics and Eugenics" (Harvard University Press, 1931) describes "inheritance of white forelock" in a family studied by Holmes and Schofield. The white forelock is in the usual position, center of forehead part of scalp, about the size of a half-dollar, and the hairs in it are larger than the hairs surrounding it which may be of any general color. The lock is not evident in childhood, but makes itself manifest about the age of puberty, in males only. The females are red or blue-green. Of 107 children of parents both of whom were brown-eyed, 82 had brown eyes, 25 had blue eyes. Of 648 children of parents one of whom was blue-eyed, the other brown-eyed, 317 had blue eyes, 322 brown eyes, 9 gray-green or blue-green eyes.

I mention these facts for the reassurance of people who are unduly disturbed by the surmises of ignorant or malicious persons. It is well to remember that the pedigree pup generally has nothing else to make him worth his feed.

Casey Stengel Named Manager of Boston Bees for 1938

EX-DODGER PILOT TAKES NEW JOB FROM OLD BOSS

Stengel Accepts Post From Bob Quinn, Succeeding McKechnie.

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—(UP)—Casey Stengel, former manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, late today was named manager of the Boston Bees.

He succeeds Bill McKechnie, who, on October 9, signed a two-year contract to pilot the Cincinnati Reds after eight years at the helm here.

Stengel accepted the Boston job in a long-distance telephone conversation with President Bob Quinn, of the Bees, who was general manager of the Dodgers when Stengel became manager there in 1934.

Quinn's offer was made in the presence of a corps of Boston newsmen and Stengel, speaking from Omaha, Texas, readily accepted the post.

Stengel was removed as Brooklyn manager October 5, 1936, but was paid his salary in full during the past season, when he devoted his time to oil interests in Texas.

Appointment of Stengel confirmed rumors that had been circulating since McKechnie's departure. The rumors became stronger last Friday when Donie Bush, former major league campaigner and now manager of the Minneapolis club of the American Association, declined Quinn's offer.

Vitt and McKenzie Face Hard Job.

By DREW MIDDLETON.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(P)—Three jobs that make the tasks assigned to Hercules look like two weeks' vacation with pay await three incoming major league baseball managers in 1938—Oscar Vitt, of the Cleveland Indians; Willy William McKechnie, late of the Boston Bees and now pilot of the Cincinnati Reds, and Casey Stengel, named today as the next leader of the Bees.

Vitt and McKechnie, at least, were hired for the specific task of improving their teams' position in the pennant races. Each will be given a free hand and there's enough class on each club to promise a better showing, but it will take plenty of work to bring it out.

On the surface, McKechnie appears to have assumed the most staggering burden, but holding the stingless Bees to their 1937 pace will be no sinecure for their 1938 manager, while Vitt, fresh from Newark, faces a host of difficulties, physical and mental, in the Wigwam.

FINISHED LAST.

McKechnie inherits a club which received great praise last spring, then ran a tame and halting race to wind up last in the National league. The new manager, a great hand at bringing out the best in a pitcher, will have something to work with in a mound staff which includes such highly promising youngsters as Whitely Moore, Johnny Vandermeer and Ray Davis. Ernie Lombardi, slow-footed but the club's best hitter (.334) is on hand to do the catching.

After accomplishing wonders with a mediocre Boston club in 1937, McKechnie left Stengel two 20-game winners in Lou Fette and Jim Turner as the nucleus of a mound staff; Al Lopez, a capable catcher, and not much else.

In the outfield, Vance DiMaggio hits a long ball but doesn't do it often. The ancient Tony Cuccinello buoyed up last season's infield, but there's no telling how long he can keep it up.

Vitt's situation is peculiar. Cleveland needs a good left-handed pitcher and a capable catcher, both as plentiful as black pearls, but most of all it needs the old zing.

The regular weekly one-day tournament, sponsored by the Atlanta Women's Golf Association, will be held at the Ansley Park course today, beginning at 9 o'clock.

This May Cause an Epidemic of Broken Legs

This picture, featuring Sanford (Coot) Vandiver, Georgia halfback who is out for the season with a broken leg sustained in the Mercer game, could cause an epidemic of broken legs at Athens. The former Marist star is in Emory hospital. Miss Elvira Clodfelder was discovered feeding the athlete chocolates yesterday by a Constitution cameraman. Harry Mehre must keep sharp tab on his able gridders. Broken legs won't seem nearly so awful to them, after looking at their playmate in the above pose.

tographers and three befuddled radio announcers lost the oval. It disappeared right before your eyes.

MANY DESCRIPTIONS. There have been many descriptions written anent that feat of Coach Ray Morrison's legerdemain but the most explanatory diagnosis regarding it we have read came off the typewriter of Mr. Jack Troy, of The Atlanta Constitution sports staff, his story having appeared in Monday morning's paper. If you have not availed yourself the opportunity of seeing it, and you love football, do so.

But now let us go back to a studio in Birmingham Thanksgiving night in 1934. Nervously, the late and beloved Dan McGugin was pacing the floor. Studying his lines for the interview scheduled within a few minutes.

His Vanderbilt team had just been inundated by Alabama, the team which was to go a-Rose Bowling against Stanford and cause coast folk to despise the days when Dixie Howell and Don Hutson were born.

TEAM SPEED. "Don't ask me about Alabama," Dan greeted. "I've played football and I've coached it all my life but for team speed, I have never seen anything like that group. Frank Thomas has. I've seen one or two men move off like deer but in my life I have never observed an eleven which as a unit navigates with such speed. Like a New York subway train with all its cars, you know."

That last-minute fast pick-up. Too bad Dan is not with us any more. Because if he could watch that 1937 Vanderbilt outfit during business hours he really would know what team speed is.

Although with Baby Ray, right tackle, weighing 246, in the battle array, the Black and Gold ladies, following a lackadaisical huddle, become a charging, compact whirlwind mass.

HARD TO BELIEVE.

The Louisianans could have been beaten more. Their goal line was menaced. In fact one would have thought they were keeping open house inside their 30-yard line all afternoon. They never reached midfield until the third period. That's difficult to digest when one considers L. S. U. is two-time Southeastern conference champion. And no slouch this season by any measure.

Incidentally, besides Captain Hinkle, who we will give All-American rating pronto, there's a little stick, no, not a stick—he is as big as a stick—only a cap—a cap—that's it—a cap of dynamite named Bert Marshall, 145 pounds, from Greenville, Texas, up at Vandy. He reminds one of Buck Flowers, of glorious Georgia Tech memory—only we believe he is smaller than Buck. Anyway, he can kick, he can run, he can pass. It would be redundant to say he can do everything else. Bert Marshall—the dynamite cap that sets the fuse for the enemy arsenal's disastrous blast.

Coach at Pitt Is Left Out On Policy

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—(P)—The University of Pittsburgh, whose football teams have made four Rose Bowl appearances in the past decade, apparently decided to reduce any unusual emphasis on athletics without consulting its veteran football coach, Dr. John Bain Sutherland.

"All I know concerning the policy shift at Pitt is what I have seen in the newspapers," was the comment made by Dr. Sutherland, who has been in charge of the school's gridiron teams for the past 13 years.

"I have not been consulted at all thus far," he went on. "However, you can make it emphatic that whatever course the athletic council charts for the football squad, I will follow to the best of my ability, now and in the future just as I have in the past."

Announcement that Pitt inaugurated a program of athletic reform and strict amateurism effective last August 1, came Saturday night from Athletic Director James (Whitey) Hagan, one-time roommate of All-America Gibby Welch and himself a halfback a decade ago with the Panthers.

Hagan was named to his post last spring as the result of a feud between Dr. Sutherland and W. Don Harrison, which led to Harrison's resignation.

Tide Guard Feared

Lost for Saturday

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct. 25.—(P)—An injured ankle may keep Louis Bostick, Alabama guard, from the lineup in Saturday's homecoming day game against Kentucky; he will not engage in workouts this week.

Coach Frank Thomas said his charges "played well" against George Washington last week. He said he thought Kentucky would give Alabama "plenty of trouble" in their contest.

Alabama has won its last 14 starts from the Wildcats.

against each other in high school—Bert at Greenville and Bussey at Houston.

BUSSEY GOOD.

Bussey was tossed out of the last Greenville-Houston game and he is said to have written Marshall that "you won't have the officials on your side this time and things will be different. Your future All-American friend, Young Bussey."

Bussey did some good passing for L. S. U., but Marshall stood out over him like a dollar over a dime.

And, while Marshall is just one of many fine sophomores, junior and senior backs at Vandy, he is the only one that combines all of what the others have in part. He must be a future All-American.

GUY LACY TRIAL.

CLEVELAND, Tenn., Oct. 25.—(P)—Both the prosecution and defense had accepted five jurors at noon today for the trial of Guy Lacy, former professional baseball player, charged with the slaying of his father-in-law, Lee Payne, in the summer of 1934. This is the third trial.

J. P. MORGAN DENIES COAL DOMINATION

Commission Blamed for Diverting Attention From Anthracite's 'Real' Problems.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(UP)—J. P. Morgan & Company today denounced as "sheer nonsense" a report issued by W. Jett Lauck, chairman of the Pennsylvania Anthracite Coal Commission charging Morgan interests with domination of anthracite production and transportation.

A statement issued by the company denied that it exercised control over the industry, and blamed the commission for diverting attention from anthracite's "real" problems, including "bootlegging" operations, "overwhelming" taxes and competition of other fuels.

"All that the release has to say about 'control' exercised by our firm over the anthracite industry and the anthracite carrying railroads is sheer nonsense," the Morgan announcement said.

"Our ownership of shares of corporations in either industry has for years been utterly negligible. In neither of the industries mentioned are the policies that are followed subject to the 'combination' of members of our firm."

The report, said to have been written by C. V. Mauldin, managing director of the Federal Bureau of Applied Economics, was not concurred in by Professor James W. Angell, of Columbia University. A member of the commission, according to the New York Sun. The Sun quoted Angell as saying that the report was not an expression of opinion by the commission.

THREE GEORGIANS WIN

APOLLO CHOR CHORUS

Three Georgia boys, including one Atlanta and another from College Park, winners of first three places in the southern states contest of the Apollo Boys' Choir, will begin a concert tour in December.

The contest was held in Birmingham last Saturday. Heretofore the choir has been composed only of Birmingham boys.

The winners, in the order named, are John Bolling, of College Park; Lewis Swayze, of Macon, and Joe Johnston, of Atlanta. Under the direction of Coleman Cooper, of Birmingham, Apollo Choir has gained national recognition and Saturday's contest marks the first time outsiders have been allowed to enter.

The concert tour starts from Birmingham and will go as far as Texas, return for two months in Florida, then concert throughout the southern and eastern states to climax the season with a final concert at Town Hall, New York.

KING BORIS ON TOUR;

PACT CHANGE TALKED

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 25.—(P)—King Boris, Queen Giovanna and their 4-year-old daughter, Princess Marine Louise, left Sofia today on a journey that was expected to take them to France, Germany and England.

Officials said the trip was "of a private character" and the monarchs traveled incognito, accompanied by only a small retinue. Political circles, however, said the King hopes to pave the way for concessions to Bulgaria concerning limitations imposed on her by the treaty ending the World War.

BOB DAVIS TOPS S. E. C. SCORERS WITH 36 POINTS

Kentucky Star Replaces Konemann as Leader; Kilgrow Is Second.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Bob Davis, University of Kentucky halfback, scampered back 67 yards with a punt to score against Manhattan and jump into indisputed high scoring leadership of the Southeastern conference with 36 points in five games.

Known as "Twenty Grand" in the Blue Grass state, Davis led his team to a 19-0 upset victory over Manhattan and succeeded Dutch Konemann, of Georgia Tech, as high scorer.

Konemann, unable to add to his 31 points as Tech bowed 21 to 0 to Auburn, dropped into third ranking.

Joe Kilgrow, Alabama's deceptive field general, scored on George Washington and booted an extra point to run his season's total to 33 as the Crimson Tide won 19-0.

Jimmy Fenton, Auburn halfback, scored 15 of the Plainsmen's points against Tech, and "Moon" Mullins scored all of Florida's points as the Gators lost 14-13 to Mississippi State. These tallies brought both backs into the scoring race, although well down the list.

High scorers in the conference follow:

Player-College	T	P	Pat	Tp.
Davis, Kentucky	4	0	0	36
Kilgrow, Alabama	4	0	1	33
Konemann, Ga. Tech	4	0	1	31
Cate, Georgia	3	0	0	28
Stine, Ga. Tech	3	0	0	24
Payne, Tulane	4	0	0	24
Fenton, Auburn	3	0	0	24
Mullins, Florida	3	0	0	21
Steadman, Miss. State	4	0	0	21

'SURPRISE' WITNESS ENTERS HAHN TRIAL

Authority Says Poison Was 'Probable' Factor in Death of German, 72.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 25.—(P)—Dr. Robert A. Kehoe, nationally known authority on poisons and "surprise" witness in the murder trial of Anna Marie Hahn, testified tonight that 72-year-old Albert Palmer died of a heart ailment, "and toxic quantities" of a poison.

He added that although the poison found in Palmer's body during post-mortem tests was "not sufficient" to establish it either as the primary or contributing cause, he concluded it was the "probable" death factor.

Testimony of Dr. Kehoe, head of the Kettering Laboratory at the University of Cincinnati, earlier today caused defense counsel to admit in court that "we sit by, open-mouthed and not prepared," Mrs. Hahn, former housemaid, is charged with the poison death of Jacob Wagner, 78-year-old gardener.

Judge Charles S. Bell, admitting testimony collateral to the Wagner case, said the state already had "proved" two deaths among elderly German acquaintances, but overruled Prosecutor Dudley Outcalt in his effort to enter the name of George Gsellman, another friend who died July 6.

"You must first complete the Palmer case," Bell observed.

CZECH TRADE PACT HELD PERIL TO U. S.

Committee Warned Low Tariff Barriers Will Reduce American Pay Rolls.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(P)—

A proposed trade treaty with Czechoslovakia was pictured today as a threat to the jobs of thousands of American workers.

Five members of congress joined with representatives of half a dozen industries in warning the committee on reciprocity information that any lowering of tariff barriers would be reflected in reduced pay rolls of American industries.

Two representatives of agriculture supported the proposed pact. John C. White, of Houston, Texas, counsel for the American Cotton Shippers' Association, said the "abject poverty" of 3,000,000 cotton farmers is the result of "a high tariff system which has been allowed to run roughshod over them."

White asserted the need for government subsidies to cotton growers would be greatly reduced if tariff barriers were lowered and foreign markets opened up to the producers of the south.

'Symphony of Peace' Wins Praise of Judge

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(UP)—A Spaniard, an Italian and a German arrested in a subway train for playing accordions and a violin collecting coins, were praised for their comradeship today by Magistrate Mark Rudich, who said: "Here, men of your nationalities play together. In Europe they cut each other's throats."

He suspended sentences.

Chambers Home

JOHNNY CHAMBERS.

Johnny Earns Cardinals' Applause

By JACK TROY.

Johnny Chambers is back home after a great season with the championship Columbus team, of the American Association, and intends to divide his time during the winter between hunting and officiating in basketball games.

Chambers was with the Cardinals until June 1 and then went with the farm club, Columbus, where he was one of the best pitchers and finished the season with a record of 13 won and seven lost.

Columbus won everything except the Little World series and Chambers was a big help in keeping the club up at the top. He had one of the best earned run averages in the league.

It was Chambers who pitched the opening game of the Little World series against Newark and won it, 5 to 4. Columbus won the first three games at Newark, then went home a bit crippled up and lost the next four games and the series. Chambers worked in a relief role in the last game, giving up no hits in two innings.

RICKY PLEASED.

"Mr. Rickey (Branch Rickey) talked with me after the all-star game and said I would be with the Cardinals all of next season. He seemed to be highly pleased with my work."

Chambers pitched the all-star game witnessed by some 17,000 fans and won it for Columbus.

Columbus was the first Association team to win both the pennant and the Shaugnessy play-off. And Chambers thought the team did very well indeed in the Little World series, considering that Newark won the International pennant by 25 1-2 games, whereas Columbus did not clinch its pennant until the final day in the second game of a double-header.

"We battled to the last ditch to win, then came through a 12-game playoff before we faced Newark. They waited around five days for us to finish."

PROMISED RAISE.

Chambers is happy at the prospect of getting a real chance to stick with the Cardinals. "I said he has been promised a raise that will amount to double his present baseball salary—so well do the Cardinals regard the big right-hander."

It's quite a feat to have a great earned run average in the Association, for most of the fences are short. Considering that, Chambers' record of leading the league in shutouts—with five—is rather remarkable. He blanked Milwaukee for the first time any pitcher had been able to do it in five years.

"I'd sure like to get lined up officiating in lots of basketball games this winter," he said yesterday. Heretofore I have played basketball in the winter. But I had rather officiate."

U. S. BONDS SOLD

Reserve Board Reports Liquidation Resumed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(P)—The Federal Reserve Board said today banks resumed liquidation of government security holdings during the week ended October 20.

In its 10-city member bank condition statement, the board said aggregate federal holdings declined $22,000,000 to $9,028,000,000. This was $1,512,000,000 under the same week a year ago.

The drop in these holdings followed a $16,000,000 increase in the two previous weeks. The trend for a year, however, has been toward liquidation.

NEW DEAL ACTS FOUGHT BY G. O. P., FARLEY SAYS

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 25.—(P)—State Democratic Chairman James A. Farley tonight accused "the Old Guard Republican forces" of wanting to repeal social security, workmen's compensation, anti-injunction and collective bargaining and unemployment insurance laws.

Asserting that the "Old Guard" wanted to control the state constitutional convention so it could repeal progressive labor and social legislation, the postmaster general warned against the "camouflage argument" that if "progressive Democratic delegates" were elected the state would be gerrymandered to the detriment of local government.

Former Atlanta Girl's Filly Wins Big Stake

Mrs. Friendly's Jacola, Bought for $700, Wins $24,430 at Laurel, Maryland.

By RALPH MCGILL.

Last winter at the famous Saratoga auction sales of thoroughbred yearlings, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Friendly, there to buy some hunters, stopped before a young filly.

"She's so beautiful let's buy her," said Mrs. Friendly.

The price was $700.

Last Saturday the young filly, called Jacola, won the 12th renewal of the famous Selma stake at Laurel, Maryland, and a purse of $24,430.

Mrs. Friendly is an Atlantan, formerly Miss Nancy Carr. And the first person she called after the victory was her mother in Atlanta, Mrs. Clark Howell. Mrs. Howell had visited her daughter the week before and had seen Jacola run.

BOUGHT ON IMPULSE.

The filly Jacola, bought on impulse because she looked so beautiful, is the only runner in the Friendly stable. Their large plantation, Woodbourne, at Warrenton, Va., is famous for its hunters. And it is to Woodbourne that Jacola will come to spend the rest of her days when her racing career is ended.

Jacola was ridden by Wayne Wright, one of the best jockeys on the turf. The victory made the filly the leading money winner of the year among 2-year-old fillies.

She is fifteenth in the list of money-winners. Her total winnings for the year are $29,215. The Wheatley stable's Merrie Lassie is second with $27,950. Jacola is trained by Selby Burch, famous trainer of Washington.

EASY VICTORY.

The victory was an easy one. The filly was trailing the second place filly by two lengths going into the first turn of the mile race. Jacola was still third coming into the stretch but Wayne Wright drew her out and brought her home first by five lengths. The track was muddy and the colt ran well.

Jacola may be nominated for the 1938 Kentucky Derby if she continues to train well. She is one of the outstanding 2-year-olds.

Easy to wear, full over the shoulders and traced at the waist and hips, this model definitely indicates the trend toward looser, more comfortable clothing for men.

UP TO FIVE POINTS

Oils and Utilities in Demand; Aluminum Advances 5 1-2.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A midday rally stemmed an early downslide in the curb market today and at the close stocks were up fractions to 5 points.

Higher prices recorded the widest gains while the more active shares advanced fractions to around a point. Oils and utilities were well favored. A few selected stocks failed to get going and slumped fractions to around 2 points.

As "big board" prices reversed an earlier slump and whirled to a strong finish, Aluminum Company jumped 5 1-2 to 98 and Gulf Oil advanced 4 to 43.

Gaining 2 to 2 points were American Cyanamid "B" at 25 1/2, Electric Bond & Share 10, McWilliams Dredging 12, Niagara Hudson Power 9 and Northern States Power "A" at 12 3-8.

International Petroleum, Creole Petroleum, American Light & Traction, Pioneer Gold, Pittsburgh Plate Glass, United Gas and Sunray Oil were up fractions. Slipping a little were Lake Shore Mines and Cities Service while Sherwin Williams dropped around 2 points.

TARZAN UNDER FIRE No. 8

With soldierly determination, Captain d'Albert himself led the expedition against the mysterious white savage who had been denounced by Abdul Kab. In all his career as a guardian of law and order in the wilderness, he had never failed to get his man. . . .

Tarzan, of course, was unaware of the commotion he had stirred. He was ignorant of the fact that he was a hunted man. So he continued his leisurely journey in high spirits, followed by his eager, admiring young proteges. "This is the life," Doc exulted.

Jad-bal-ja, Tarzan's trained lion, had wandered off into the jungle to pursue his own devices. And d'Albert, Dick and Doc, as they gazed in confidence, dropped behind the ape-man, fascinated by the antics of chattering monkeys that swung and played in the trees.

So it was that Tarzan was alone when he caught the sound of marching men. He walked straight ahead, for he had no reason to suspect that Captain d'Albert saw the white giant, he called to his soldiers in a low, tense voice: "On guard! That is our man!"
